THE INTERNATIONAL FRATERNITY OF DELTA SIGMA PI

Professional Commerce and Business Administration Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University, School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, on November 7, 1907, by Alexander F. Makay, Alfred Moysello, Harold V. Jacobs and H. Albert Tienken. The fraternity was organized to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce; and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture, and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

KENNETH B. WHITE, Boston
Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi

A Message from the Grand President

DELTA SIGMA PI ADVANCE during this first full year of peace—and incidentally my first year as your Grand President—indicates definitely that our Fraternity is once again on the march! Responding to the challenge of the times, Deltasigs everywhere are expressing a new spirit of high resolve and the belief that our Fraternity, with an international outlook, can become a dominant influence in the professional world in this atomic age.

Expansion, an important step in this advance, has already commenced. On June 1, 1946, one of the most outstanding events in the entire history of Delta Sigma Pi was culminated through the installation by your Grand Council of our Beta Sigma Chapter at St. Louis University through the initiation of 462 members of Phi Sigma Eta, a 22-year-old local professional business fraternity. It is with pride that we welcome such a strong chapter and its many fine members to our ever-growing Deltasig family.

Further evidence of Delta Sigma Pi Advance is borne out by the continuing never-say-die spirit of the 11 chapters which remained in operation during each of the war years and are now numbered among our strongest chapters. Of these chapters we are justly proud. Likewise we are proud—perhaps even a little boastful—of the return to our active family of those chapters which had most or all of their undergraduate personnel enter military service early in the war, forcing them to temporarily suspend their normal undergraduate activities. The reactivation of these fine chapters required not only the cooperation and interest of undergraduate and faculty members, but also the unselfish contribution of time, patience, and untiring efforts of Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright, members of your Grand Council, and groups of organized alumni. Of particular significance was the reactivation of our 26-year-old Epsilon Chapter at the University of Iowa, and of our Xi Chapter at the University of Michigan. Presently our chapter roll includes 37 chapters with an active status. Our goal: 100% reactivation before the Grand Chapter Congress convenes in Minneapolis in September, 1947. With a total of 1,107 initiates this past year we are indeed once again on the march.

The reactivation program is not being confined to undergraduate chapters alone. Alumni clubs are resuming activity even on a broader scale than in pre-war days. Several of our alumni clubs have undertaken as a project the responsibility of a national committee: ATLANTA: National Business Research; BALTIMORE: Life Memberships; CHICAGO: Alumni Activities; DALLAS: Emblems, Awards, and Rituals; PHILADELPHIA: Chapter Efficiency Contest; and the important Alumni Placing Service Committee, while not a specific project of the New York Alumni Club, is headed by Lawrence W. Zimmer, one of their alumni members.

As final evidence of Delta Sigma Pi advance, plans have been consummated for the resumption of all our major national services and facilities, including an enlarged Central Office staff, augmented by the appointment on a full-time basis of James D. Thomson as Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer.

If our Fraternity is to become this dominant influence and the logical leader in the professional world there is still much work to be done. It is not enough to applaud. It is not enough to say "Well done!" No Deltasig has done enough until it has cost him something more than words of approval. Here are a few of the contributions both undergraduates and alumni can make toward assuring the future advance of Delta Sigma Pi:

Leadership with the basic attributes of ability, openmindedness, and a progressive forward-looking attitude to provide for harmonious chapter organizations and timely and constructive professional programs.

Loyalty and devotion to our principles, traditions, and ideals with a view to building the future citizenship of our democracy through personality and character training, social discipline, and a broader brotherliness.

Continued post-graduate interest in the organization of our alumni to assist in the guidance of our chapters, to provide for the perpetuation of our higher ethics and ideals, and to bring about a wider comradeship and understanding among our alumni.

Right now the need is for citizens who can make democracy work and can build that kind of a world in which this democracy can be safe and prosperous. How true is the statement: "The need of a good job for every man is not as great as the need of a good man for every job."

Issue I

"Well Done Brothers,

Welcome Home."

PROUDLY WE STATE THE FACT that over 4,000 members of Delta Sigma Pi served in the armed forces of the United States in World War II, but we are sorry to say that many of these have died in the line of duty. It will be some time before we can gather together all the information required to complete our meritorious war record. However, the reports we already have, although far from complete, rank among the highest stories of valour and heroism of the last war. Someday we hope to be able to publish this record in its entirety and then you will be able to judge its merit for yourself. Also worthy of special commendation were the many alumni of Delta Sigma Pi although above the military age, who assumed positions of leadership in industry which did such a marvelous job of supplying the necessary war materials to our fighting forces. To this older group of Delta Sigma Pi we also say, "Well Done Brothers," because we fully appreciate their important contribution to winning World War II.

Delta Sigma Pi's national activities also took on a war role soon after Pearl Harbor, and thus continued until the job became much too large for the available staff and funds. A service directory was established and maintained at the Central Office and several different tabulations of names and service addresses were published in issues of THE DELTASIG. THE DELTASIG was transformed into a magazine designed to best serve our members in the armed forces and as such was sent to all servicemen for whom current addresses were available. Finally, when the number of Deltasigs in uniform reached 3,000 and the great migration of troops to foreign shores began, it became impossible to keep our service addresses current with the staff and funds available, and the job was reluctantly given up.

The peak of the war found Delta Sigma Pi with only 11 active undergraduate chapters. However, in the college year of 1944 there were 130 new initiates attesting to the fact that the chapters active at that time were determined to carry on despite tremendous handicaps they encountered. These chapters included Beta at Northwestern, Kappa at Georgia, Psi at Wisconsin, Alpha Beta at Missouri, Alpha Epsilon at Minnesota, Alpha Lambda at North Carolina, Alpha Nu at Denver, Alpha Upsilon at Miami, Beta Kappa at Texas, Beta Nu at Pennsylvania, and Beta Rho at Rutgers.

With such a drastic reduction in chapters and undergraduate personnel, which correspondingly reduced the annual income of the fraternity, it was necessary to temporarily suspend several of our national activities, such as the publication of THE DELTASIG, the Chapter Efficiency Contest, the Grand Chapter Congress, etc., in order to conserve the resources of the fraternity for the more important reactivation period following the war. It was felt that, if contacted, all of the members would concur that this was a small price to pay for a much larger and stronger post-war Delta Sigma Pi, and this program was, therefore, adopted. To further this policy of conservation the staff at the Central Office engaged in outside activities, substantially reducing the overhead of the fraternity, which has conserved the financial resources of Delta Sigma Pi and placed it in an enviable financial position today, when the resources are most needed.

Reactivation of Chapters

Even before the last shots were fired in Europe and Japan, enrollment at many universities had begun to increase and with this expansion came the plans for the reactivation of Delta Sigma Pi chapters. In many cases the spark was still there and with the help of loyal faculty and alumni the Deltasigs were rounded up the campuses, in most instances one or two, and a nucleus was formed that began the work of reorganizing a chapter. Only those that have actually gone through this procedure of chapter reactivation can fully appreciate the amount of work that it entails and everyone of us are grateful to those few Deltasigs on each campus that have contributed so much to the future of Delta Sigma Pi. Slowly at first, the chapter list then grew swiftly from the 11 active undergraduate chapters of the dark war days to 37 strong and energetic chapters at the close of the college year of 1945-1946. Pledging and initiation of new members at all chapters has in almost every case exceeded our most optimistic expectations, with a total of 645 members being initiated during the year. These 645 initiates did not include the 462 alumni and undergraduate members initiated at the installation of our Beta Sigma Chapter at St. Louis University on June 1. The total membership of Delta Sigma Pi is now 16,715 and more than 800 of these are Life Members.

Outstanding events of the last college year in Delta Sigma Pi were the installation of Beta Sigma Chapter, the 63rd chapter of Delta Sigma Pi; the reactivation of Epsilon Chapter at the University of Iowa after 11 years of inactivity; the re-establishment of our Xi Chapter at Michigan after having been closed for 5 years; the initiation of 58 members into Alpha Omega Chapter at De Paul University in Chicago; and the initiation of 40 members each in Pi Chapter at the University of Georgia, Athens, and Alpha Sigma Chapter at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa.

Grand Chapter Congresses

Travel restrictions and suggestions made by the Government prompted the cancellation of the 14th Grand Chapter Congress, which was scheduled for November 1942. It was also thought best to postpone the 15th Grand Chapter Congress scheduled for 1945 and in the place of both the 14th and 15th Grand Chapter Congresses the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi held a meeting at which the Grand Council members were elected as though a Grand Chapter Congress had been held.

Pursuant to a call issued by Grand President McKewen the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi met in Chicago on August 14-16 in 1942 to conduct the meeting that was to serve as a substitute for the Grand Chapter Congress that had to be postponed. In addition to reviewing and handling the problems of the fraternity that had mounted due to the inauguration of Selective Service and the general defense policy of the nation, the Grand Council elected Grand Officers and Grand Council members for the next three years. In view of the existing emergency and because of his experience as Grand President it was thought best to continue the term of Brother McKewen, and he was accordingly reelected to serve as Grand President for the following three years. At this meeting Frank C. Brandes, Kappa, of Kansas City, Missouri, Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Howard B. Johnson, Kappa, of Atlanta, Georgia, were also elected to full terms on the Grand Council to fill the three vacancies prevailing at that time. The Grand Council then reappointed H. G. Wright, Beta, as Grand Secretary-Treasurer, to complete the Grand Council membership roster for the war years ahead.

The year 1945 was slated for a Grand Chapter Congress, but as in 1942, a Grand Council meeting in Chicago on August 25 and 26 had to suffice due to the war conditions. At this meeting Kenneth B. White, Gamma, of Dallas, Texas, was elected Grand President, and Allen L. Fowler, Beta Nu, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Daniel C. Kilian, Alpha, of New York, New York, and J. Elwood Armstrong, Chi, of Detroit, Michigan, were elected to the Grand Council. Royal D. M. Bauer, Alpha Beta, of Columbia, Missouri, was also elected to the Grand Council to fill the unexpired term of Frank Brandes, who had moved to Portland, Oregon, and who felt that he could not properly serve the fraternity from his residence there. The other members of the Grand Council, whose terms had not expired were: John L. McKewen, Chi, Baltimore, Maryland; Rudolph Janzen, Alpha Epsilon, Minneapolis, Minnesota; Howard B. Johnson, Kappa, Atlanta, Georgia; H. G. Wright, Beta, was reappointed Grand Secretary-Treasurer and the Grand Council then proceeded to make plans for the reactivation period ahead. It was decided to hold the next Grand Chapter Congress in September of 1947 and it was agreed that if the Twin Cities Alumni Club and the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi at the University of Minnesota would again extend an invitation, which they have done since this meeting, that the place would be Minneapolis, Minnesota. Both the date, September 1947, and the place, Minneapolis, Minnesota, are now official and plans are being rushed to make this Grand Chapter Congress the largest and best in the history of Delta Sigma Pi.

Grand President Kenneth B. White, Gamma, was initiated into Delta Sigma Pi at Boston University on March 20, 1926, and since that time Brother White has served the fraternity diligently. Brother White graduated from Boston University with a BBA Degree, cum laude, he was elected to membership in Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce scholarship society, and in 1930 he passed the CPA examination in Texas. As a member of the staff of Haskins & Sells at Dallas, Texas, he gathered the necessary accounting and auditing experience which enabled him to open his own accounting practice. In 1945 he established his own accounting practice with offices in the Gulf States Building, Dallas, Texas. He is an active member of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Accountants. Brother White also makes his home in Dallas, Texas, living with his wife and son at 3632 Princeton Avenue.

Central Office Expansion

With the reactivation of over 25 chapters of Delta Sigma Pi came the resumption of many of our national activities, the Chapter Efficiency Contest, THE DELTASIG, the Delta Sigma Pi Official Bulletin, the Alumni News, the Biennial Survey of Universities, and the publication of a new Pledge Manual and Ritual. This increased program necessitated the present expansion of the personnel and office facilities at the Central Office.

The reduced war staff of Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright and his secretary, Mrs. June Rose, has been augmented by the appointment of James D. Thomson as Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, and the employment of Miss Margaret Mench, Miss Margaret Lieser, and Miss Charlotte Greve as staff members. This enlarged staff will be fully able to handle the accelerated program of the next few years and urges all chapters and members to let the Central Office assist them with their fraternal problems. James D. Thomson, Beta, the new Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer, joined the Central Office staff on April 15, 1946. His fraternity experience includes serving as Junior Warden, Senior Warden and Head Master of Beta Chapter. He was initiated in Beta Chapter on June 15, 1940 at Northwestern University and in addition to his offices at Beta Chapter he has been President of the Commerce Club of Northwestern University, President of the Student Council, and President of the Chicago Campus Association of Northwestern University. Brother Thomson will take over supervision of undergraduate chapter activity, the administration of the Chapter Efficiency Contest, the visitation of chapters, and other duties. He will have the opportunity of meeting hundreds of members of Delta Sigma Pi in his travels in the next few years, and we urge the fraternal co-operation of all in his efforts to further increase the services and prestige of Delta Sigma Pi.

New Pledge Manual

Early this year our supply of Pledge Manuals was exhausted as a result of the exceptionally large pledge classes at most of our reactivated chapters. In overall size the new Pledge Manual is the same as the old one, but its size is 48 pages as compared to the 32 pages of the former edition.

The cover is printed in purple on golden ripple cover stock, which accentuates the modern lines of our cover design and the fine detail of our coat-of-arms, which is printed on the back. The new text of the Pledge Manual contains five chapters each of which has several sub-heads. Among the subjects treated in this book are: "The American College Fraternity System"; "Professional Fraternities"; "The Schools of Commerce and Business Administration"; "Delta Sigma Pi," such phases as Historical, Membership, Obligations of a Pledge, Life Membership, Finances, The Central Office, Grand Chapter Congress, Jewelry, Insignia, The Undergraduate Chapter, and the Chapter Efficiency Contest; and finally a revised and up-to-date Pledge Examination. In order to clearly bring out pertinent points in the Pledge Manual, illustrations, charts and maps have been added to this new issue. There is a map which occupies a double page center spread showing the geographical location of our chapters, a Delta Sigma Pi jewelry illustration, a chapter organization chart, a Greek-Letter alphabet Glossary, and a reduced copy of a Delta Sigma Pi Life Membership Certificate.

In all, this new Pledge Manual is a larger, more complete edition designed for the use of the pledge, as it contains pages for him to fill in his personal data and the names of his own chapter officers and fellow pledges. It has been thought that many members would like to keep their particular Pledge Manual as a memento of their pledge days and the addition to these personal data pages was to encourage this.

Chapter Efficiency Contest

One of the indications that business is again normal at Delta Sigma Pi is the resumption of the annual Chapter Efficiency Contest. Announcements were sent out informing the chapters that the Chapter Efficiency Contest was to commence on October 1, and many of the chapters are well on their way toward the 100,000 points necessary to win the contest. In addition to being of extreme interest to chapters, the Chapter Efficiency Contest provides a yardstick whereby the success of our chapters can be compared on a national basis. In order to score 100,000 points, the maximum allowed, it is not necessary that a chapter be 100 per cent perfect in all phases of fraternal operation but instead any chapter that operates efficiently can score the maximum points possible. By this token small chapters have an equal opportunity with large chapters to win the Chapter Efficiency Contest, and as a result every chapter is stimulated by the excellent chance of being a winner. Each active member of a chapter making the Honor Roll, a minimum of 85,000 points being necessary, will receive a paid-up alumni membership card for the first year following graduation, and the Head Masters of those chapters making a perfect score of 100,000 points will receive Life Memberships in Delta Sigma Pi. We are looking forward to a great many chapters making the Honor Roll and many scoring 100,000 points, a perfect score.

Alumni Placing Service Resumed

LAWRENCE W. ZIMMER, New York

The true fraternal meaning of the words "help and service" has been brought out in the successful operation of the Delta Sigma Pi Alumni Placing Service. Since 1936 hundreds of Deltasigs have been placed in positions to their liking and for which their education and talents fitted them. The same number of employers have filled their staff openings with these qualified and especially suited personnel also as a result of this valuable service. This activity was somewhat curtailed during the war years for more urgent war activities. Furthermore our most potential material was serving either in the armed forces or in civilian war work. With most of these brothers now back in civilian activities the full operation of the Alumni Placing Service is being resumed.

Lawrence W. Zimmer, Alpha, is the Chairman of the National Alumni Placing Service Committee and from his office at New York University he is organizing the local committees, which perform the placing function in their own localities. When the committees are complete the names and addresses of the members will be published so that Deltasigs wishing either employment or employees will know who to contact in their city. Brother Zimmer's job of organization is large and he is seeking volunteers to assist him in this important service. If you are in a position to help, write him at New York University, 51 West 4th Street, New York 3, New York.

Publication of The Deltasig Resumed

This is the first issue of THE DELTASIG we have published since January, 1943, and it is grand to be able to resume the regular publication of our magazine after this brief interlude. With more than 4,000 members in service, and a relatively few of our chapters being able to carry on their undergraduate activity during the war period, efforts of the fraternity were necessarily directed in efforts directly related to the more important task of winning the war.

Plans are now being formulated for making our magazine of ever increasing interest and usefulness to the members of the fraternity. We cordially invite all members to contribute articles and alumni news items and photographs of general appeal. This is your magazine. Tell our membership of the accomplishments of their brothers. Furthermore, we want to write the war record of each of our many chapters in the next few years, and this is a task that only the members themselves can perform. It should be a pleasant and willing one, and it will be a privilege to publish this record in the columns of our magazine.

We look forward to a period of activity and service of unlimited possibilities. We cordially invite our vast membership to participate in this development.

Beta Sigma Chapter Installed at St. Louis University

ON JUNE 1, 1946, BETA SIGMA, the 63rd chapter of Delta Sigma Pi was installed at the School of Commerce and Finance of St. Louis University at St. Louis, Missouri. This was accomplished through the initiation of the members of Phi Sigma Eta, a 22-year old local professional business fraternity, as our Beta Sigma Chapter. Phi Sigma Eta was founded in 1924 at the St. Louis University and from its very founding it has maintained a record of merit at the University. Impressive ritualistic ceremonies were conducted by the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi and most of the day was spent initiating the 462 members of Phi Sigma Eta.

History of St. Louis University

St. Louis University's history is filled with the romance characteristic of the entire development of the Louisiana Purchase. Marking the origin of St. Louis College back in 1818 is a small Latin academy connected with a humble cathedral church. This college was conducted as such until 1847 then it was abandoned in favor of another primitive school system which had originated four years previously. This system was created when Rev. Dubourd, while visiting Washington in 1823, persuaded President Monroe and Secretary Calhoun to send a group of Belgium Missionaries to Missouri to found schools and missions among the Indians.

Settling in a locality northwest of St. Louis these missionaries opened a school for Indian boys, receiving their first pupils in 1844. Shortly after that, the most respectable white men in St. Louis sent their sons to this Indian Seminary "for want of better school accommodations." About the same time the desire was generally expressed among the people of St. Louis and throughout the state of Missouri that this school should not be confined to Indians but should be transferred to St. Louis where general school facilities were sorely needed. A small lot was donated in the heart of St. Louis, adjoining property was bought, and in the autumn of 1848 ground was broken for a building 15 feet in length, 40 feet in width and three stories high. This new structure was not quite complete when its doors were opened and classes begun on November 2, 1849. St. Louis at that time had about 5,000 population, but even then it was a flourishing town with promise of future development.

The general assembly of Missouri, in 1832, granted the new institution a not-too-liberal charter and its name was changed to St. Louis University. October 5, 1836, was the date of its first expansion, which was the establishment of the medical school, however, it was not until 1842 that this medical school had its own separate building. As early as 1855, the University was determined to make their institution not only one of superior education, but also one of style, beauty and grandeur. This program was accentuated by a purchase of a tract of land in the western part of St. Louis in 1867, and the erection of the new collegiate and academy buildings was begun in 1886. Many departments and schools were added to the St. Louis University in a rapid growth that followed in the next score of years. The School of Commerce and Finance was opened in 1910 and was one of the first of its kind west of the Mississippi River. The last college to be added was that of the Institute of Geophysical Technology which was opened in 1945 as a special venture in technical education.

St. Louis University has every reason to be proud of its development from "school-house to skyscraper." It has grown from an academy in a one-story stone house near the river front with 15 students to a University with more than 7,000 students. Its first teaching staff of only 5 professors makes a striking contrast to its present 800. From a single schoolhouse it has expanded into a mighty University comprising a graduate school, schools of philosophy and science, divinity, law and medicine, dentistry, commerce and finance, education and social sciences, nursing, and social service; seven colleges of arts and sciences; three university hospitals, three affiliated hospitals and five staff-related hospitals; a radio system and five seismological stations; a university church, an auditorium, a gymnasium and an athletic stadium.

The University has never wavered in its determination to maintain the highest possible standards in everything that it undertakes. It is on the approved list of all the important educational agencies and associations and its professional schools are rated in the highest category by their respective educational bodies.

School of Commerce and Finance

The School of Commerce and Finance offers to men and women students an extensive program of university courses in business and allied fields, through its day school, evening school and graduate division. Six departments of instruction are administered; Accounting, Business Administration, Business Law, Economics, Finance, Marketing, and Merchandising. In addition the university departments of English, Geography, History, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physical Education, Psychology, Religion, Sociology and Speech contribute required and elective courses to the day and evening curriculum.

In the day school seven complete curricula are available to graduates of accredited high schools. Six of these curricula require four years of study and lead to the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Commerce; the seventh, a course in Secretarial Studies, leads to a certificate at the end of two years. Regular curricula leading to a certificate are offered in the evening school. Six of these curricula require four years of evening study and the other requires two. Advanced instruction to qualified persons leading to the Degrees of Master of Science in Commerce and Doctor of Science in Philosophy is maintained in the graduate division.

The specific objectives of the School of Commerce and Finance naturally assume somewhat different forms in the various divisions of the School. Certain definite and fundamental purposes, however, underlie all of its instructional activities. These may be described briefly as follows: To develop the minds and personalities of its students by means of selected disciplines which cultivate keen observation, clear thinking, and adjustment to the demands of life. To encourage intellectual, moral and social habits which prompt a scientific and professional view of business responsibilities and contribute effectively to good citizenship. To give its students the larger knowledge, skill and resourcefulness which constitute a professional college training for the better opportunities in business. To guide its students in the selection of their business careers, and to aid its graduates in the pursuit of their chosen business objectives.

History of Phi Sigma Eta Fraternity

Phi Sigma Eta fraternity was founded at the School of Commerce and Finance of St. Louis University on March 16, 1924, when several students who had been meeting regularly for the purpose of establishing some unified co-ordination among the students formally founded an organization which they called the Mercury Club, after the Greek God of commerce. Prior to the founding of the Mercury Club there had been no organization of students in the School of Commerce and Finance. The Mercury Club was a professional organization from the very beginning, and was originally founded among the students attending the evening division of St. Louis University.

Its first officers were Tobias P. Anth, President; J. Jules Brinkman, Vice President; J. M. Burns, Treasurer; and Harry L. Foerstner, Secretary. In the fall of 1924 it was decided to admit students attending classes in the day division into the Mercury Club, which action formally took place on January 7, 1926. The merged group became Phi Sigma Eta, professional commerce and finance fraternity.

R. MURRAY CANTWELL, St. Louis, Dean School of Commerce and Finance, St. Louis University.

In September 1926, a chapter house was acquired at 3833 West Pine Street, and members and pledges resided there, holding chapter meetings and informal dances throughout the year. Due to the rapid local expansion of the chapter, a new house was needed, and in June 1930, the chapter moved to 4259 Westminster Street. This was a much larger house and additional furniture had to be purchased. During the next year or two the chapter further expanded and its four annual dances, the Harvest Dance in October, the Pledge Dance in December, the St. Pat's dance in March, and the annual formal Dinner Dance in April had to be moved to hotels and country clubs. The last house to be occupied by Phi Sigma Eta was at 3708 West Pine Street.

The original founders and succeeding officers and members of Phi Sigma Eta originally planned on expanding this organization into a national professional fraternity. Their Supreme Council comprised a Supreme Grand Accountant, a Supreme Senior Accountant, a Supreme Treasurer, a Supreme Auditor, a Supreme Scholar, a Supreme Alumnus and a Marshal. The National Chapter comprised members of the Supreme Council, the Grand Comptrollers of the subordinate chapters and alumni chapters, and all past Supreme Grand Accountants. Each Subordinate Chapter was to consist of all of those active chapter members who were regularly enrolled as students in the College of Commerce and Finance in which the Subordinate Chapter was located. Alumni Chapters of the subordinate chapters were also planned and a very active Alumni Chapter exists today in St. Louis. The fraternity magazine was to bear the name "The Mercury."

The national progress of Phi Sigma Eta did not materialize as anticipated. When they learned somewhat belatedly of the strong competition of national fraternities in the field of commerce and business administration, the Supreme Council of Phi Sigma Eta began to cast about for some plan by which a national affiliation could be consummated. For sentimental reasons the Alpha Chapter of Phi Sigma Eta voted that all members of Phi Sigma Eta would have to be initiated in a body in order to go national, and in over 22 years this membership had grown until at the present time there were 462 members, classified as follows: Actives, 32; Alumni, 421; and Honorary and Faculty Members, 9.

At the beginning of World War II, a large number of the younger members of Phi Sigma Eta entered the armed forces, necessitating the disposal of their chapter house, and the reliance on many of their alumni members to carry on the essential activities of the fraternity. The fine spirit of their alumni kept the fraternity alive and was responsible for their weathering this serious situation.

In 1945 the members of Phi Sigma Eta began thinking again of nationalization. They realized the advantages that would accrue to them as a chapter of a large and well known national fraternity, and at a meeting held last fall they delegated one of their founders, J. Jules Brinkman, to open negotiations with Delta Sigma Pi. Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright went to St. Louis and conferred with Mr. Brinkman and Mr. McKenzie, at which time all of the many ramifications of the proposed merger and affiliation were thoroughly discussed. Then at a meeting of Phi Sigma Eta members held in St. Louis it was unanimously voted to petition Delta Sigma Pi for a chapter, the petition was prepared and filed, and Beta Sigma Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi came into existence on June 1, 1946.

Installation of Beta Sigma Chapter

The installation ceremonies, conducted during the afternoon and evening of June 1, were in charge of the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi. The Grand Council normally holds its annual meeting in Chicago in August, but in view of this outstanding event, and to honor this new chapter, the Grand Council advanced their meeting and held it in St. Louis on Friday, May 31. Then they remained in St. Louis to install Beta Sigma Chapter on the following day. The Grand Council members in attendance were Grand President Kenneth B. White, Gamma, of Dallas, Texas; Grand Secretary-Treasurer, H. G. Wright, Beta, of Chicago; John L. McKewen, Chi, of Baltimore, Maryland; Howard B. Johnson, Kappa, of Atlanta, Georgia; Allen L. Fowler, Beta Nu, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; J. Elwood Armstrong, Chi, of Detroit, Michigan, and Royal D. M. Bauer, Alpha Beta, of Columbia, Missouri. Many chapters were well represented at this installation, 14 members from Beta Chapter at Northwestern were present and almost the same number from Alpha Beta Chapter at Missouri and Alpha Chi Chapter at Washington University.

In the early afternoon the alumni of Phi Sigma Eta were formally initiated by a ritual team composed of the members of the Grand Council and headed by Grand President White. The undergraduate members were initiated by a ritual team from Beta Chapter at Northwestern, organized by James D. Thomson, Assistant Grand Secretary-Treasurer of the fraternity. The members of Phi Sigma Eta went through one of the three ceremonies conducted that afternoon in the main banquet room of the Missouri Athletic Club, which was the scene of unusual activity all of that day.

More than 200 attended the banquet held Saturday evening in honor of the installation. Everyone was quite willing to enter into the spirit of the occasion after a most trying afternoon and a jovial, wise cracking assembly of brothers accentuated Grand Secretary-Treasurer Wright's toastmaster antidotes. The evening's speakers included a "Charge to Beta Sigma Chapter," by Grand President Kenneth B. White, "The Founding of Phi Sigma Eta," by J. Jules Brinkman, Beta Sigma #1 and one of the founders of Phi Sigma Eta, "The Development of Phi Sigma Eta" by Alfred F. McKenzie, "The School of Commerce and Finance" by R. Murray Cantwell, Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance of St. Louis University, "Welcome" by Robert T. Birney, President of the St. Louis Alumni Club of Delta Sigma Pi, and "Responses" by Ferd Classe, Supreme Grand Accountant of Phi Sigma Eta and Joseph Duepner, Head Master of Beta Sigma Chapter. Each member of the Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi also said a few words of welcome to the new brothers.

On Friday night, previous to the installation, an informal dinner was held at which time the key alumni of Phi Sigma Eta and the members of Delta Sigma Pi at St. Louis displayed great enthusiasm over the future prospects of both the new Beta Sigma Chapter and a greatly enlarged alumni club in the St. Louis area. The active chapter headed by Joseph F. Duepner, Head Master and with Herschel Sanner, Senior Warden, Francis Marin, Junior Warden, Hilary Mattingly, Scribe, Eugene Zieha, Treasurer, Michael Cantoni, Master of Ceremonies, Ralph Bauer, Master of Festivities, and, John Dipple, DELTASIG Correspondent, is well qualified to ably represent Delta Sigma Pi on the St. Louis University campus in the years to come.

The officers of the Supreme Council of Phi Sigma Eta were: Ferd G. Classe, Supreme Grand Accountant; Walter W. Wieggers, Supreme Senior Accountant; Robert F. Hellrung, Supreme Treasurer; Joseph Feltman, Supreme Auditor; Frederick S. Massa, Supreme Scholar; Peter J. Wilder, Supreme Alumnus and Maurice S. Murray, Marshal. The Supreme Council of Phi Sigma Eta was the group of officers designated to rule the national organization of Phi Sigma Eta. The alumni of the local chapter also had their own officers as follows: Jerry Koetting, Grand Accountant; William Neujum, Senior Accountant; Ferd Meyer, Treasurer; Joseph Lynch, Secretary; Howard Maloney, Comptroller and Paul E. Marx, Bailiff.

The Beta Sigma Chapter with its 462 fine members is a worthy addition to the ranks of Delta Sigma Pi and we are indeed proud to have such a grand group join us. This installation is one of the largest events of its kind in Greek-letter history and is the second time an old local fraternity of size has become a chapter in Delta Sigma Pi, Beta Nu at Pennsylvania being the first.

THE WORLD OVER

National G. O. P. Chairman

B. CARROLL REECE, New York, was elected chairman of the Republican National Committee at an April meeting held in Washington, D.C. Brother Reece, Republican Representative from Tennessee is a lawyer, bank president, former university professor, and economist. He was born on a farm near Butler, Tennessee, receiving his education at Watauga Academy, Carson and Newman College, New York University, and the University of London, England, later receiving the degree of LL.D. from Cumberland University. While an economics professor at New York University in 1920 he became a member of Delta Sigma Pi.

B. CARROLL REECE, New York

In the same year he left the university and returned to his home state of Tennessee to enter into politics. He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1921 when he was only 32 years of age. With the exception of the two-year term of 1932-33 he has been re-elected to this office and has served 12 terms. In order to devote his entire time to the party chairmanship, Brother Reece will resign his seat in the House. He is the second Republican from the south to hold the national chairmanship. During 23 years in congress, Reece has made few speeches. He is a quiet, reserved, personable man of 56 years, noted as a shrewd and hard working legislator who prefers committee work to oratory.

In addition to being a member of the Bar Association, Brother Reece is president of three Tennessee banks, The Carter County Bank, The First National Bank of Jonesboro, and The Sullivan County Bank. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Farmers' Bank, at Blountville, Tennessee. Brother Reece was married in 1923 to Louise Despard Goff and has a daughter Louise, 18 years old. He makes his home in Johnson City, Tennessee.

Head of Decontrol Board

ROY LELAND THOMPSON, Louisiana State, was recently appointed chairman of the Price Decontrol Board by President Truman. Brother Thompson in 1933 was associated with the Farm Credit Administration, later he became President of the Federal Land Bank. In the very immediate future the decontrol of the powers of the Office of Price Administration promises to be one of the most important government operations, as both an increase in merchandise inventories and further increases in prices rest with the judgement of this board.

Brother Thompson is a charter member of Beta Zeta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi, having been initiated at Louisiana State University in 1929. He did not enter college until he was 25 years old. Since that time he has received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Louisiana State University, a Master of Science Degree from the University of Wisconsin and a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Economics from Minnesota.

Dean at Syracuse University

THOMAS H. CARROLL, California, who is only 31 years old, recently became one of Syracuse University's youngest deans. Brother Carroll filled the vacancy created by the retirement of Dean Charles Raper from his post in the College of Business Administration in September 1943. His appointment is all the more significant because "Business Ad" is one of the major colleges on "University Hill" at Syracuse.

As a Lt.-Comm. in the Naval Reserve in the last war, Brother Carroll was officer-in-charge of the Officer Candidate Section, Bureau of Naval Personnel at Washington. He is a native of San Francisco, receiving his B.S. from the University of California, his Master's Degree in Business Administration (with distinction) and his degree of Doctor of Commercial Science from Harvard. In the capacity of research assistant he remained at Harvard, later becoming a member of the faculty, then finally assistant dean before his entry into the Navy.

Appointed Tax Council

PETER G. EVANS, Rutgers, has been appointed to the Excess Profits Tax Council, which consists of fifteen members and which has been set up by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for administering corporation excess profits tax refund claims. Brother Evans is a member of the New York Bar and a Certified Public Accountant of both New Jersey and New York. His past experience includes, banking, accounting, auditing, Wall Street law firm associate, corporation executive, and a partner of a New York accounting and tax consulting firm.

Texas State Representative

BRITTON EDWARDS, Texas, who has not completed his schooling at the University of Texas, has won the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 77th District. He received a majority plus nine votes over his two opponents. Brother Britton entered the United States Army Air Corps in 1942 and was discharged in the fall of 1945 wearing Navigator's wings and First Lieutenant's bars. While in the army he received the DFC, the Air Medal with four clusters, the Purple Heart, a Presidential Unit Citation, and the ETO ribbon with five battle stars.

BRITTON T. EDWARDS, Texas

At the age of 25 Brother Britton has many accomplishments to his credit: he is married and the father of an eleven months old son; he will complete his schooling with a B.B.A. degree in Business Administration this year; he is vice-president of the Ex-Servicemen's Association at the University of Texas; and in addition to his meritorious war service record previously mentioned he is also very active in the Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi.

When confronted after his successful election and asked how he did it, Brother Edwards modestly replied, "I don't know, they just elected me." Many of our brothers achieve success but not very many do so while they are still attending school and so very young.

Plant Controller

JOHN A. COLE, Penn State, has been promoted to Plant Controller of the Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, Plant of the Armstrong Cork Company. Brother Cole joined the Armstrong organization in 1943 as an accountant in the company's general office in Lancaster. He later served as an accountant in the company's Keyport plant, and then was transferred to Beaver Falls as assistant plant controller, which position he held until his present promotion.

Professor of Finance

AFTER ALMOST TWENTY YEARS as a member of the faculty of Northwestern University, Herbert E. Dougall, Northwestern-Zeta, leaves to accept an appointment as professor of finance at the Graduate School of Business, Stanford University.

Brother Dougall has served on the faculty of Northwestern as professor of finance since 1927 and has been director of Northwestern's Summer Session since 1945. He graduated from Toronto and received his M.B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Northwestern. In 1931-32 he held a post-doctoral fellowship from the Social Science Research Council, conducting research in France and England. For many years he has taken an active interest in the Beta and Zeta Chapters of Delta Sigma Pi.

Traffic Manager

WITH THE STATEMENT that "the Calco Chemical Division of the American Cyanamid Company deserves a Traffic Department second to none, and we shall do everything in our power to accomplish this end," Floyd T. Ridley, Pennsylvania, took over his new position as Traffic Manager of that company.

In 1916, while still in high school, Brother Ridley started his career in the traffic field by spending afternoons and evenings in the local freight office of the Southern Railway, for experience at no salary. Upon the completion of his high school, he entered into their employ as a rate and bill clerk. His next step up the ladder was in the traffic department of the E. I. duPont DeNemours and Company for whom he worked until 1943. While with duPont he had supervision and jurisdiction of traffic and transportation over ten of their plants. This work included supervision over track construction, employing and handling all train crews, maintenance work and all other duties incident to plant railway operation. Returning to the railways in 1945 Brother Ridley became traffic manager for the KCS-L & A Railways where he managed the activities of 14 general traffic agencies ranging from Cincinnati, Ohio, to the west coast and as far south as Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Having completed courses of study at Pennsylvania University, Temple University, and Hamilton College, Brother Ridley proceeded to train further at the College of Advanced Traffic from where he graduated with a Bachelor of Traffic Law degree.

President of C.P.A. Examiners

BEING ELECTED PRESIDENT of the Association of C.P.A. Examiners is one more honor to add to the already outstanding record of Walter N. Dean, New York. Brother Dean is a partner of Eckes and Dean, New York, a member of the American Institute of Accountants since 1919, and is secretary of the New York Board of Certified Public Accountant Examiners. He also served as the first Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi.

The Association of C.P.A. Examiners, of which he has just been elected president, is an organization composed of boards of accountancy of all states, territories, the District of Columbia, and the Board of Examiners of the American Institute of Accountants. The association was organized in 1935 by a group of state boards to promote co-operation among state boards of accountancy and to facilitate interstate practice. Its object is to collect and disseminate information concerning examinations, standards, legislation and other data of interest, among the boards of examiners.

OHIO STATE

NU CHAPTER OF DELTA SIGMA PI was officially reactivated during the month of April, 1946. Previous to this date a great deal of work had been done in getting the chapter reorganized. This reorganization started during the Winter Quarter of 1946 at Ohio State University when three members of the faculty who were Deltasigs began to plan for the reactivation of the chapter. These three men were Professors Meyer, Donaldson and Slocum. At this time two active undergraduate members of the chapter had returned to the campus, and they, along with a small number of alumni and the faculty members, held several meetings at Brother Meyer's apartment. It was decided at these meetings that the faculty members should select from their classes men who would make good prospective members for a nucleus to get the chapter back on its feet and into active status on the campus. Cards were sent to these selected prospects and they were invited to a professional meeting of the fraternity. During the Winter Quarter two more such meetings were held and 28 men had been invited to these meetings. Out of this group 26 men pledged the fraternity and this was the status of the chapter at the end of the Winter Quarter.

At the beginning of the Spring Quarter the chapter applied for reactivation both to the University and the Central Office. At this time six actives had returned to the campus and the pledge class had elected its own officers and the actives had appointed temporary officers until arrangements could be made for the initiation of the pledge class. These arrangements were completed and the initiation was held April 28, 1946 at the Fort Hayes Hotel. After the initiation the chapter had a large group of actives to choose from and a regular election of all officers was held. During the remainder of the Spring Quarter weekly meetings were held at the Ohio Union Building on campus. The chapter had also been active during this Summer Quarter and every effort is being made to get the chapter and its members into active participation in campus affairs.

At the present time the chapter does not have a house, but we have a Housing Committee that is investigating various plans that we hope will enable us to obtain a house in the near future. Our Program Committee has outlined an active program for this coming Autumn Quarter including a Twenty-fifth Anniversary Banquet of the Chapter, a Founders' Day Banquet, a Hallowe'en Party and various professional meetings which will include a dinner and speaker at which time we plan to invite prospective pledges. This, in brief, has been the program that Nu Chapter has followed in its reactivation process and what it has been doing in its first year back on the campus of Ohio State University—LAWRENCE G. HAMPTON

MISSOURI

ALPHA BETA CHAPTER HAS SUCCEEDED in its reconversion program and is well on its way in regaining its stride of pre-war years. Although not a casualty of the war by any means, activities were restricted because of Uncle Sam's urgent call to arms. Serving in every branch of the service and in every theater, brothers of the Alpha Beta Chapter are proud of their war record. We deeply regret the loss of nine brothers who were reported killed in action or missing. Among those killed in action were: Charles H. Apple, Herbert R. Bassman, Don R. Burke, Lawrence M. Kirk, Harry H. McPherson, and William P. Wilbur. Those reported missing are Alan C. Attebery, Edward B. Ruto, and Carl H. Silber. Throughout the 1945-46 school year, we have stressed improvement of membership, and reverting to the principles of our organization we enjoyed before the war. We have been eager to adopt improvements and are looking forward to the materialization of valuable suggestions.

During the year, three formal initiations were held, adding 25 new members to the chapter roll. We were fortunate in having two faculty members join our organization: James A. Close is professor of Economics, and William E. Rogers is the Information Officer of the Veterans Service Committee. The highlight of the spring semester was Derby Day. This is an annual affair of the B. & P. A. School but was interrupted because of the war. It was revived this year by Delta Sigma Pi and Phi Chi Theta, professional commerce sorority. Derbies were worn throughout the day, followed by a box supper and dance at the City Armory.

Brothers of Alpha Beta enjoyed an industrial tour, April 9, to the A. P. Green Fire Brick Plant at Mexico, Missouri. While there we witnessed the manufacturing process of the most complete line of refractory products in the world. After viewing the production phase, the functions of the accounting department were explained to us.

Because of the large number of brothers attending summer school, we decided to remain active during the summer months. Featured among the activities was an Aviation-Commerce banquet at the Tiger Hotel. "Chuck" Shroder proved to be an able chairman and the program was thoroughly enjoyed by Deltasigs and their guests. Eugene V. Fryhoff, head of the Aviation Department of the Missouri State Department of Resources and Development, was the principal speaker and gave a very interesting talk about the progress made in aviation throughout the state. Motion pictures were also used to bring out the aviation theme.

Our chapter has made four additions to its long list of Life Members, including: Richard Gildehaus, George A. Keepers, Martin P. Mc Nerney, and Urban Wussler. The B. & P. A. Council has been revived and of the five members, three are Deltasigs. These include Byron C. Porter, William J. Stewart, and "Chuck" Shroder. Members of Alpha Beta who have positions in various business offices of the University include: Ray Bezoni, Paul Hanna, Professor William E. Rogers, and Urban Wussler. Faculty members of our chapter for this fall will include Professors R. D.

M. Bauer, James A. Close, Robert C. Manhart, and William E. Rogers.

Alpha Beta looks forward to a progressive fall semester and we are anxious to receive our share of points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest.—MARION R. WAGGENER

KENT STATE

ALTHOUGH BETA PI CHAPTER at Kent State University was forced to suspend undergraduate activity during the war, these activities were resumed as soon as possible after the war. When three active members met on the campus last January they exchanged the fraternal handshake and said, "Let's go!" The chapter records were secured from the Central Office and provisional officers were selected. These consisted of John Boesch, Head Master; Robert Culver, Treasurer; and Alvin Geitgey, Scribe. An invitational banquet was held to acquaint the new men on the campus with the principles of Delta Sigma Pi. From this group a pledge chapter of 15 was selected and they were initiated during the Spring quarter.

With about 20 active members returning and a pledge chapter of 22 to be installed shortly, the outlook for the Beta Pi Chapter for the coming year is excellent. The chapter intends to work hard on the Chapter Efficiency Contest and to carry out several important projects on the campus.—ALVIN J. GEITGEY

WISCONSIN

TO NARRATE THE STORY of Psi Chapter during the first period of the war would be no different than to tell the history of any other chapter of any fraternity during the years of 1943 and 1944. The mailman was making a daily delivery of the "Greetings" and brothers were packing their tweeds and twills in anticipation of olive drab, leaving behind them a fine record for Delta Sigma Pi at the University of Wisconsin. However, when the service called a large percentage of actives and pledges, things did not look too good for the chapter, and the Spring of 1943 left the chapter with thirteen actives.

During the summer of 1943, the Navy listed among its preference our chapter house as home for the Waves and shortly afterward the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" replaced the tune of "Rose of Deltasig" in the halls of 132 Breeze Terrace. With the openings of the Fall semester, the chapter found itself with a growing service mailing list and names were added until when in the winter of '44, there were four actives of the chapter, without a house, and a sad looking future. There just were no men to be rushed and though the few remaining men on campus had their hey-dey the fraternal spirit was growing dim. Not too dim for the four remaining actives, because seated at a weekly dinner meeting, the remaining members under the leadership of Head Master Robert Henkel decided that the Deltasigs would survive and set out on a campaign to build the chapter up at any cost of effort. The insistence of the small group proved successful, when in the Spring of 1944 things started looking up and rushing was relatively successful. Using the rooms of the Wisconsin Memorial Union, actives, pledges and rushees met, and together with alumni, carried out business and professional programs. The aggregate of the members of the chapter, past and then present, carried on so well that an initiation and formal dance were held in May. At the end of the school year, the chapter recognized the fine job done by the retiring Head Master Robert Nienow and the retiring executive council. However, the house on Breese Terrace was still a "Naval Reservation," but the situation certainly looked brighter.

During the Spring and Summer of 1945, efforts were being made by the chapter to find a temporary abode for the twenty-two members who would return in the Fall. The attempts were futile, but the problem was solved when the university and naval authorities notified the alumni housing committee that the week before school started, we were to get our chapter house back. It was a great day—that day we spent in moving back into our chapter house to resume activity. The problems faced were great and numerous but Head Master Robert Buhse, Lester Meinhardt, housefellow, and Dan Kerth of the alumni housing committee, as well as the whole chapter, worked hard, and by the time school started the house was once again set up and ready for operation.

Due to the fact that we moved back into the house at a relatively short notice, the first few months were spent in carrying out an organizational program. We did, however, maintain a thorough rushing program, and the chapter of the year before which consisted of four members had grown to the size of 33 by the close of 1945. During this first semester we had frequent meetings with the alumni group of Madison at which meetings Herb Hawkins, Dan Kerth, and Art Kiesling gave some very interesting talks on their experiences in business. And of course, the chapter lost no time in making full use of the recreation room for the week-end parties, sponsoring a bowery party, a song-title party, and a Mock Prom.

A professional program for the second semester was quite thoroughly organized under Harriss Wiffler who arranged some very interesting programs, the highlight being a talk given by John S. Touhy of the Gisholt Machine Co. of Madison who spoke on "Wartime Personnel and Employment." At the start of the semester we used the occasion of the Professional Nites as a rushing function, and it proved quite successful.

During the past year, the Deltasigs of Psi Chapter managed to keep abreast with campus activities and the names of members were very frequently listed on the schedules of campus highlights. We placed in the Homecoming Decorations contest. One of the feature accomplishments of the chapter in campus functions was the winning of top honors in the Red Cross Fair contest, at which the Deltasigs brought in the most proceeds to go to the charity organizations. The boys sold hot dogs and pink lemonade, and although it meant an afternoon of hard work, the boys managed to have quite a bit of fun in the attempt. King for a week was Ken Wachowiak who reigned at the Winter Carnival. Following his triumph, John Kress was elected treasurer of the Senior class. Brother Kress had also been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholarship fraternity, earlier in the year. He climaxed a very successful college career with winning the Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key. The close of the spring social season on the campus brought Warren A. Gunness in the news as King of the Inter-Fraternity Ball.

Upon returning to school this fall, the chapter finds itself amidst a record enrollment of 18,000 at the University of Wisconsin. The School of Commerce in itself has 3,600 students, and it really looks like a banner year for Psi Chapter. The present Executive Council consists of the following actives: Head Master, Warren A. Gunness; Senior Warden, Richard Allen; Junior Warden, Richard A. Wendorf; Scribe, Kenneth A. Wachowiak, and Treasurer, Joseph Brady. Formal rushing procedure has been agreed upon by the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Senior Warden has completed a great job by increasing our pledge class by twenty. Harriss Wiffler has again organized a very promising professional program and to round out the chapter's activities, Don Berg as Master of Festivities is making arrangements for dinners, parties and a formal dinner-dance to be held during the Christmas season.

Psi Chapter held the fort, and we are all quite proud of the accomplishments made. However, we will not stop now. We are still rarin' to go and intend to maintain the fine record that Delta Sigma Pi has made during its years at Wisconsin.—KENNETH A. WACHOWIAK.

IOWA

AFTER LYING IN DRY-DOCK for several years the ship, Epsilon Chapter, was relaunched at an impressive ceremony January 26, 1946. Fully equipped with a fresh crew and capable officers, as well as the able direction and timely advice offered by a truly worthy and experienced seafaring captain, Grand Secretary-Treasurer, H. G. Wright, Epsilon Chapter has again set out on its voyage into the "commercial waters." It is now hoped that Epsilon Chapter will be able to withstand the "rough tides" and "storms" of the business world and sail on triumphantly in years to come. A total of 16 members were formally initiated during the reactivation of Epsilon Chapter. Immediately prior to the reactivation, the following well qualified officers were elected to represent the group: Head Master, Walter L. Peterson; Senior Warden, Robert J. Byrne; Junior Warden, Richard D. Watson; Treasurer, Irwin B. Floyd; Scribe, Robert Green.

Several business meetings and dinner meetings with guest speakers were held periodically soon after the chapter was reorganized. Arrangements were also made to pledge prospective members. Thus 15 members were pledged on March 6, and formally initiated April 6, 1946. Also initiated were two faculty members, Professors Wendell R. Smith and Walter L. Daykin.

The local members of Deltasig lent a helping hand in the planning of the Business Careers' Conference held March 8, at which time successful businessmen representing various phases of commercial activity conferred with commerce students interested in their respective fields of endeavor.

Among the more prominent activities sponsored by the local chapter was the Commerce Mixer which highlighted the careers' conferences. This mixer was open to all commerce students and was held in conjunction with girls' professional commerce fraternity, Phi Gamma Nu. Offered were dancing, refreshments, and an all student floor-show. A picnic was held on May 13. As a highlight to the activities of the semester was the birthday celebration of Epsilon Chapter on May 18. Attending this banquet were many faculty-member brothers as well as alumni from neighboring towns. Speeches were made by our brothers Elmer Hills, Professor of Business Law, Howard Young and Don Guthrie, alumni members, and Dean Chester A. Phillips, of the College of Commerce. It was with great pleasure that the group received Warren P. Lawrence who was one of the original members of Epsilon Chapter when organized May 11, 1920. Brother Lawrence gave an interesting account of the organizing and founding of Epsilon Chapter. Also at this meeting Dean Phillips presented the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Award to Wayne F. Westphal, outstanding student in commerce for the year.

At the close of the semester the following officers were elected for the 1946-47 school year: Head Master, Leonard B. Vranicar; Senior Warden, Robert A. Lothringer; Junior Warden, Morris D. McDowell; Treasurer, Franklin K. Listebarger; Scribe, Richard E. Rasmussen.

Tentative plans for the future year include, as in the past, full co-operation with the College of Commerce in planning the Business Careers' Conferences as well as other activities that might be undertaken by that department, a mixer, industrial tours of manufacturing plants in neighboring cities, and periodic business and dinner meetings with guest speakers.

The chapter also intends to solicit from individual alumni members a brief history or resume of their activities since they have left school. Copies of these letters from individual members are to be made and bound in book form and distributed among all the members of the chapter. It is felt that this will not only bring together many older members who have lost contact with one another, but will also renew in their minds the spirit of fellowship they knew so well when all brothers were together. Thus the intrinsic value of fraternal association, which really begins after one has left the campus, can be fully realized.—LEONARD B. VRANICAR

NEWARK

ALL WAS QUIET IN THE HALLS of the University of Newark in January of 1944. Only a few co-eds and several early returnees from the service gave testimony that the school was open. Despite this small number however, the embryo of the Beta Omicron Chapter was developing. Meetings were being held at the unfurnished fraternity house at 29 Saybrook Place, and plans were being made for the coming year. There was only one Deltasig at these meetings, the others being pledges, but enthusiasm and interest ran high, and reached the climax in June of '45 with the formal initiation at the Newark Athletic Club.

Under the guidance of Joseph Miano, the new Head Master, the chapter was busy during the first term organizing for future activities, furnishing the house, getting in touch with alumni members and those in service, and doing all the other things essential toward making an active chapter. Beta Omicron Chapter began to grow beginning in September of '45. All the old faces appeared as Uncle Sam became more liberal with his discharge policy. By June of '46, we had the largest membership in our history with practically every member returning from the service. Business and professional meetings, two initiations, two formal dances, and many other activities were held, and to this date, we are in a better position than we were before the war.

The pledge committee already has several new pledges lined up, and the rush smoker is expected to help us assemble a large class. Quite a few brothers have just come back to finish a term or two, so our turnover will be terrific. In addition to that, starting in September, the school will be on a three-term basis, which will further hasten the graduation of our members. Three new members were initiated at our last initiation in June. Dean George R. Esterly was the toastmaster for the occasion, and our guest speaker was a Deltasig from years back, A. H. Puder. Brother Puder is senior partner in the firm of Puder & Puder, one of the largest public accounting firms in the metropolitan area.

Our new executive committee, consisting of Head Master, Charles McAloon; Senior Warden, Frank Phifer; Junior Warden, Joseph McDermott; Scribe, Norman Cramp; and Treasurer, Edward Tym; has drawn up a calendar of events which promises to keep every member on his toes. In addition to our usual activities, we are having a speech clinic, in order to develop in each member of the chapter, skill and interest in the art of public speaking. It gives each member an opportunity to speak and receive open criticism, thereby helping to improve his skill as a speaker.

Due to the large number of Deltasigs attending summer school, meetings were held once a month during the summer. In addition to the meetings, we had a busy social calendar. A picnic, a hay-ride, and a stag week-end at the shore were the high-lights of the program. The stag week-end, as it has always been in the past, was the big event and was a tremendous success. We were blessed with good weather and a nurses' outing, and were able to have a beach party on Saturday night—needless to say a good time was had by all.

As usual, Deltasigs are quite active in school affairs. During the past year, Harold McCollum was president of the Board of Control, the student governing body; Ben Tomasulo, now an alumnus, was responsible for the re-activation of the Newman Club, becoming its first post-war president. At present, James McKinnon is president of the Intra-Fraternity Council, and Joseph McDermott and Charles McAloon are president and vice-president respectively of the Newman Club.

As of July 1, 1946, the University of Newark, as such is no longer in existence. The New Jersey State Legislature has passed a bill making it the School of Business Administration of Rutgers University. The new name is now the Newark Colleges of Rutgers University.—CHARLES E. MCALOON

GEORGIA—Atlanta

WITH MORE THAN FORTY ACTIVE members in school for the fall quarter, Kappa Chapter has been reorganized along pre-war committee lines to facilitate earning the needed 100,000 points in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. James H. McNabb, an experienced Kappa officer and service returnee, was elected Head Master for the '46-'47 year. Other officers include: Senior Warden, Ben Binford; Junior Warden, Emory Johnston; Treasurer, Morgan Anderson; Scribe, Frank Humphries; Master of Festivities, Al Snedgen; Master of Ceremonies, Jack Morris; Historian, Ernest Pegram. Homer T. Brewer is Chapter Adviser, G. Ford Rives, Chancellor, and Edward W. Withorn is co-ordinating Efficiency Contest activities.

Much of the time in the past few months has been spent re-shaping the chapter machine which was wrecked by war exigencies. However, good fellowship was not neglected. Over a hundred Deltasigs gathered in March to commemorate the chapter's Twenty-fifth Anniversary. Guest of honor for this occasion was H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer of the fraternity. In June, the Sport Dance was resumed after a war lapse. In July, a house party at the lodge was followed by a visit from a Pi Chapter group which featured a soft-ball game and a joint meeting.

Ritual teams journeyed twice to Athens to assist Pi Chapter and once to Auburn to initiate a Beta Lambda group. The most recent trip was to Knoxville for an Alpha Zeta ceremony.

Our Grand Council member, Howard B. Johnson, attended the Grand Council meeting in June in St. Louis and participated in the installation ceremonies of Beta Sigma Chapter at St. Louis University.

An ambitious program has been outlined for the present school year. The chapter is participating fully in all school activities. Hiram J. Honea is president of the student body; Bill Marr and Bill Burke, editor and business manager, respectively, of the Nocturne; Jimmie Edwards, president of the Venetian Society; and Warren Blackmon is head of Interfraternity Council.

Under the supervision of Senior Warden Ben Binford and Master of Festivities Al Snedgen, the annual cake race for all male freshman students was held on October 12 at Deltasig Lodge. This event was followed by a smoker for a select group of rushees. An initiation was held on September 7 and 8 at which six men were brought in. They were: Conrad Petit, Donald Stewart, David Nelson, Henry Burnett, Frank Fetzer and Boyd Lyon. The lodge barbecue, a premier annual Deltasig Lodge affair, was held on Saturday, September 21, and was pronounced by one and all as the best in a long time. The celebration assumed special significance as it marked the 10th anniversary of the new lodge.

The beautiful autumn weather has brought out increasing numbers of workers each Saturday afternoon at the lodge, as we forge ahead with our plans for completion of the long awaited dam and lake on the lodge property. Already proud of Deltasig Lodge, men of Kappa Chapter believe that we shall have one of the fraternity showplaces of the nation when the present plans for expansion are completed.—WARREN L. BLACKMON

TEXAS

BETA KAPPA CHAPTER LOOKS FORWARD eagerly to the coming school year to carry out more fully than ever before the high principles of Delta Sigma Pi. Continuous activity throughout the war necessitated discontinuing many essential phases of our professional program. The new school year will begin with forty keenly-interested members eager to resume the activities which have made Delta Sigma Pi a highly regarded part of the College of Business Administration at The University of Texas.

The past year was one in which we climbed from our wartime low up to forty members interested in furthering the purposes of Delta Sigma Pi into an important part of our lives. Many activities, both professional and social, helped us regain lacking interest and start us well on the road of attaining our prewar standing of efficiency and service.

Among the important functions of the past semester was the celebration of Founders' Day with an impressive banquet and dance. Dr. J. C. Dolley, vice-president and faculty member at the University, spoke to the group of actives and alumni on "Deltasigs and the War." This enjoyable affair was climaxed by the presentation of the chapter's Bluebonnet Belle, Miss Vivian Buttery. The first meeting attended by our new initiates was one to quickly inaugurate them into the functions of Beta Kappa Chapter. Mr. Davis, instructor in personnel management, spoke to the group of members on "Labor Relations and Personnel Problems." The close association of the members was furthered with a true Deltasig reunion at Round Up on April 15. Invitations were mailed to all alumni in hopes that a closer association could be built between all members. Grand President Kenneth B. White spoke to the group of alumni, members and dates on "The Future of Delta Sigma Pi." The interesting presentation of the past history of Delta Sigma Pi and the plans for a prosperous future inspired all present to strive earnestly to carry out the principles of Delta Sigma Pi. Dancing and conversation that followed made new acquaintances and friends long to be remembered by all present.

A great loss was suffered by Beta Kappa when Dr. John H. Frederick resigned from the University of Texas to go to The University of Maryland and do research for Martin Aircraft Corporation. A farewell banquet was given in honor of Dr. Frederick, a long-time chapter advisor and member of Beta Kappa Chapter. Dr. Frederick, a distinguished professor of transportation, spoke to the group of members and dates on "The Future of Air Transportation." We will all miss Dr. Frederick and wish him the best of luck in his new position. With Dr. Frederick's keen interest in Delta Sigma Pi and jovial nature, we feel confident a new chapter will soon spring up at the University of Maryland.

Our summer term was attended by 25 members who felt the intense Texas heat was too much to merit any formal activities. T. J. Hemphill added to his growing host of close friends when he entertained the chapter and faculty members with his annual chicken barbecue at Zilker Park. The group gathered early in the afternoon to play softball, pitch horseshoes and have an afternoon of fun the Deltasig way. After gorging ourselves on the delicious barbecue, the group sat around listening to talks by various faculty members. The short term of eight weeks gave us time only for an all-day picnic and extensive plans for the coming semester's activities. Many old members were back in school to give us some sound ideas for the coming year and the all-important Chapter Efficiency Contest. Many Deltasigs will be back with us to guide us through a coming year full of activities. The entire chapter, dates and wives spent an afternoon relaxing at Lockhart State Park before finals broke with all their fury. Fifty members and dates gathered at the Texas Union on Saturday the 17 of August to leave for Lockhart. Swimming and bridge kept the afternoon crowd entertained while accumulating a sun tan. After a full afternoon of recreation the group went to the club house to enjoy "Deacon" Jones's delicious barbecue. Songs and dancing climaxed the affair that seems to be rapidly gaining the reputation of an annual outing anticipated by all members.

Returning servicemen and our recently acquired College of Business Administration give us a chance for a wide selection of prospective members. Plans directly in line with our needs were formulated during the summer term. Our new school year will begin with a professional dinner to be held in September to present the Scholarship Key to the recent winner. This affair will contribute the atmosphere for our large event of the winter semester. The annual Texas Personnel Conference will be held in Austin October 31, November 1 and 2 with the top national leaders in personnel work attending. Beta Kappa Chapter has scheduled a banquet to entertain these leaders on November 1. Some of the directors that will be present are: Otis C. McCreery, Director of Training of the Aluminum Company of America; Garret L. Bergen, Personnel Manager of Marshall Field; Ester Lloyd Jones, Professor of Education and Director of Laboratories at Columbia University; Bea H. Mitchell, Secretary of Texas Employees Insurance Association; W. D. O'Brien, Manager, Central Station Division of General Electric; J. L. Willis, Assistant Director of Industrial Relations of International Harvester; W. E. R. Smith, Director of Personnel, American Zinc Company; Forrest H. Kirkpatrick, Dean of Students, Bethany College and numerous other leaders that should give members of Beta Kappa a new light on personnel problems.

Industrial tours of Texas cities will hold the greatest interest for all members. This vital phase of our program was discontinued throughout the war, but we are all in hopes that we can again make tours of these industrial centers with our brothers at Beta Iota and Beta Epsilon. The coming year of activity should mark one for all Deltasigs to set a new high in. Beta Kappa eagerly looks forward to its new year in which to increase its chapter and reach a new high in service to the College of Business Administration and interest to its members.—LEWIS K. HYER, JR.

MARQUETTE

WHEN THE WORLD'S SCIENTISTS eventually launch the first rocket to the moon, they may be surprised to find a reception committee from Marquette waiting for them. That broad statement is just another way of saying that Delta Chapter has set its sights at infinity, and with unprecedented enthusiasm, is shooting for the moon. The small nucleus of returning veterans last spring strengthened the foundation of what we believe will soon be the strongest and most active group since the founding of Delta Chapter, by initiating nine worthy men into the brotherhood. Little more could be done in those first few confusing months, but over the summer plans began to evolve and interest picked up. The task of reconstructing the chapter to and beyond its pre-war importance seemed an irresistible challenge. Yesterday, we merely knew where we were. Today, we know where we are going.

It was necessary at our first meeting this term to elect new officers. They were: Head Master, Roland Westphal; Senior Warden, Al Pitterle; Junior Warden, Dean Cannon; Treasurer, Leroy Reiser; Scribe, Glen Ethier. Immediately following the election, plans were laid for a smoker to be held the following week. The social program was then tentatively completed with the appointment of a committee to organize a homecoming dance for October 26. With first place in the Chapter Efficiency Contest as a goal, we then settled down to the more serious talk of planning an efficient and rapid reconstruction of Delta Chapter.

Rushing prospects this year are indeed brighter than ever before, and the calibre of the men already pledged is gratifying evidence of future success. Furthermore, if enthusiasm and determination mean anything, then there will certainly be no letup until we again reach the top.

Good luck to the new DELTASIG. It will be more welcome than ever.—GLEN E. ETHIER

RIDER

BETA XI CHAPTER WAS AMONG those forced to temporarily close their books during the days of hostility. Shortly after this nation entered the war, men, also, entered different fields to help accomplish the victory. As the school days went on, more students continued to leave until in 1943 every person at Rider wearing the badge of Delta Sigma Pi were in some branch of the service. Although this situation left Beta Xi inactive, it was a mark to be proud of. This was the situation until November of last year when members and now veterans began to return. The job of reactivation was left in the hands of seven men who had resumed their schooling. Rushing proved to be a difficult task and it was inevitable that the pledges would outnumber the members.

Our smoker held at the Trenton Country Club necessitated by the lack of a house, proved invaluable in acquainting the Deltasigs with prospective pledges. The standards, ideals and history of Deltasig were briefly yet aptly discussed by Brother Floyd. The fraternity membership headache was eased by the return of 31 signed bids. The initiation continued throughout the summer climaxed by a formal initiation on July 26. Brother Fowler from Philadelphia honored the Beta Xi Chapter with his presence at the ritual.

The housing situation that faced the members was partly solved when a house was rented but in due need of repairs. However, with financial backing by the Chapter and close willing cooperation by the men, the property was put in presentable condition. The job of reactivation was at last completed in September when 21 men moved into the house.

Although the new members have had seemingly all work thus far, the fraternity's plans for the coming months will be more socially and athletically inclined.—E. JAMES HODGETT

LOUISIANA STATE

THROUGH THE UNTIRING efforts of two of our faculty members, Drs. Karl D. Reyer and Stanley W. Preston, Beta Zeta re-joins the list of active chapters. Our first meeting was held in March with only six members, all veterans, back in school. Shortly afterwards eight men were pledged and on May 13, were initiated into the brotherhood of Delta Sigma Pi. The new members are: William Bennett, Pat Collier, Ogden Hall, John Mayfield, Armand Perrault, Ray Pierce, Alexander Stewart, and Warren Wagenspack. Brother Mack Hornbeak, local banker, was the principal speaker at the initiation banquet.

Our final function of the school year was a buffet supper at the home of our faculty adviser and brother, Karl D. Reyer. Following the supper a meeting was held at which an election of officers for the current year took place. Those elected were: Head Master, Sidney A. Champagne; Senior Warden, Ogden Hall; Junior Warden, John Mayfield; Scribe, Ray Pierce; Treasurer, Thornton Smith; Chancellor, Pat Collier; and Historian, Wilton Black.

The summer session found all of the members back in school except Walter LaCroix and Douglas Mitchell who said "Let's face it together." They are now in business for themselves in Alexandria, Louisiana. We all wish Buck and Doug the best of luck. Several meetings were held during the summer session and were climaxed by a picnic on July 20, at "Pop's Farm," which was enjoyed by all actives, faculty members, and their dates.

Our first meeting of the current year was held on September 25, only three days after classes began. This meeting brought forth many and varied plans for the coming year. At the present we are concentrating on rushing activities, with a smoker being set for the middle of October, and the following week, pledging. We are also looking forward to sponsoring the College of Commerce Banquet once again. This will be the first of these annual affairs since 1942.

Deltasig is one of the leading professional fraternities on the campus. This has been made possible through the efforts and co-operation of all members—faculty and undergraduates, and we are all determined to make this year a banner year for Beta Zeta.—SIDNEY A. CHAMPAGNE

GEORGIA—Athens

IT WAS ON THE 17TH DAY of May, 1945, that I received a very cordial and brief letter from our Grand Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Wright, informing me that he had received a letter from Grand Council member of this district, Howard B. Johnson recommending me for leader in the revival of Pi Chapter at the University of Georgia. Pi Chapter had been inactive for three years due to World War II taking all active members of this Chapter. After a careful inspection of conditions here at that time, I found there were only four Delta Sigma Pi members here at the University, two War Veterans including myself, and two faculty members. Most of the previous chapter records being misplaced and no funds, I quickly realized that there was a BIG job ahead for the leader in the revival of Pi Chapter. As I had never held an office in the fraternity and lack of experience, I finally gained enough courage to answer Brother "Gig" Wright's letter advising him of prevailing conditions, and further advising him that I thought it best to wait until October for steps toward revival of Pi Chapter. I felt somewhat relieved at this time because I thought there would be a chance of getting out of the big job, but when October, 1945 rolled around I received an air-mail special from Brother Wright saying: "Now is your suggested time of revival of Pi Chapter, Brother Banks. I will expect you to get the ball rolling and please advise me immediately what help and assistance I can be to you." It is easy to see that I really had to go to work and that is when I really started the ball rolling toward revival. With two other inexperienced members, Jimmie Delay and John Ham, with the aid of two faculty members, Albin B. Biscoe and Harold M. Heckman we put forth all efforts toward immediate revival.

By January 1, 1946, Brothers Charles English and Vance Brigman had returned from Army Service and entered the University of Georgia, thereby giving me the required nucleus to elect officers and divide some of the responsibility. The first week in January, 1946 we held a very successful Smoker at the Georgian Hotel at Athens with a large attendance of invited Commerce students. A week later we followed up with an open-house smoker at the Chapter room, whereby we were successful in selecting and pledging 16 men from the invited group. Our first initiation was held for these 16 neophytes on March 3, 1946 at the Holman Hotel in Athens. With my new men I immediately set to work planning for another rush program to get more good men which I realized were available. Being more successful this time, I was able to pledge 24 new men the first of April. We held our second initiation on May 18 and 19 at the Holman Hotel for the 24 new neophytes.

I am very proud of the 40 fine young men I had the privilege of pledging and bringing into the membership of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. I wish to express my appreciation to Kappa Chapter of Atlanta who so faithfully came to my aid in helping with my rush programs and initiations during our efforts toward revival of Pi Chapter. We now have 48 active members in Pi Chapter including 8 Delta Sigma Pi members from Kappa Chapter now attending the University of Georgia. I feel sure that 1946-47 is going to be most successful for Pi Chapter under the leadership of our new Head Master, Robert W. Williams of Atlanta and Senior Warden, Charles M. English of Atlanta.

In conclusion I wish to express my utmost thanks and appreciation to our Grand Secretary-Treasurer "Gig" Wright and Grand Council Member Howard B. Johnson who made me responsible for re-activating Pi Chapter. The more I put into the work the more I enjoyed it, and I certainly learned from experience, "That he profits most who serves best."—W. NORTHWESTERN—Evanston

THE SPRING QUARTER OF 1946 saw the reactivation of Zeta Chapter on the Evanston Campus of Northwestern University. The possibilities of reforming the chapter looked rather poor during the winter quarter when there were only two members of the fraternity on campus. However, with the coming of spring, a couple more of the boys turned up in school and the Alumni Club renewed its activities and gave us every possible bit of help. The first smoker, given with the aid of the alumni club, brought out more than forty men and netted us sixteen pledges all of whom took an active part in the organization of the chapter and were duly initiated in June. We now have seventeen new pledges who we plan to initiate next quarter.

Last winter George Cavalenes and Chuck McCann were the only Deltasigs on campus in the undergraduate division. Del Norton, one of the old Zeta boys, was in the Graduate School but the boys failed to discover one another until the winter quarter was almost over. Once the three fellows met, however, plans for the reorganization of the chapter were quickly formed under Del's direction and with the help of the Alumni Club. Del left school after the winter quarter but he was replaced by Bruce Toussaint, another Zeta boy, and Ed Shaler, a transfer from Alpha Omega Chapter at De Paul. With the number of actives on campus raised to four we quickly went to work under Bruce's direction.

The first smoker was held one Sunday afternoon in April at the Georgian Hotel in Evanston. The alumni club turned out en masse to support us and help entertain the guests. Several speakers, including Professor McMullen and Professor Teevan, both Deltasigs, gave excellent talks. Sixteen men were informally pledged as a result of the meeting and two weeks later the formal pledging was held at Alex Phillips' house. Lex is a member of the always-helpful Alumni Club and he graciously loaned us his house for the ceremony.

The new pledges immediately took an active part in all chapter affairs and plans for another smoker, the formal initiation, and the acquisition of a house on campus were quickly formed under various committees.

The new men were initiated on Sunday, June 25, in the Beta Chapter house on the Downtown Campus of Northwestern University. The initiation was followed by an informal banquet in the Marine Dining Room of the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Some of the Beta boys were on hand to help with the ceremonies and aside from the heat the day was a complete success. The banquet had been arranged by Chuck McCann, Earl Rix, Ed Kine, Dave Pifer, and George Seibold and all the boys with their wives and dates enjoyed themselves in the dining room and on the famous Beachwalk.

The summer activities were largely focused in the effort to get a chapter house on campus. George Cavalenes and Miles Tommeraaesen were in charge of the committee on housing and their efforts have been crowned with success. The University has granted us McFarland House, a well furnished house just across the street from Scott Hall, the student union. The house will be ready for occupation before the Fall Quarter begins and the boys are planning a grand opening and house warming as soon as classes start again.

The last smoker was held in July at the Orrington Hotel in Evanston and was very well attended. Seventeen men were informally pledged at that time and were formally pledged early in August in Scott Hall. The pledging ceremonies were followed by a very successful beer bust out west of Evanston. We plan to initiate the new men early this fall thus bringing the strength of our chapter to about forty men.

The prospects for the chapter this fall seem excellent. While we are not participating in the regular Rush Week activities we are sending out letters to all new students in the School of Commerce telling them about the fraternity and inviting them to our next smoker and professional meeting. With the strength of the chapter constantly increasing we plan to actively participate in all school activities this fall and winter and re-establish the name of Delta Sigma Pi at Northwestern University.—CHUCK MCCANN

PI CHAPTER, Georgia-Athens, INITIATES of the school year 1945-6.

NEBRASKA

THE SPARK WAS STILL THERE. Yes, even though the war years had drained the active membership of Alpha Delta Chapter to a low ebb, the spirit and name of Delta Sigma Pi was kept alive on the University of Nebraska campus by our lone active member, Bernard Ulrich. On October 2, 1945, Bernie and four other former active members who had returned to the campus met in the Student Union Building and formed the nucleus about which Alpha Delta once again began to grow.

The first year has been one fraught with problems of reorganization and scouting for good pledge material. Our aim was to seek to obtain as many pledges as possible without sacrificing the quality of fraternity men that have made up the brotherhood of our chapter in the past. Since Alpha Delta is not as yet the proud owner of a house, the principal means of rushing prospective pledges was to invite them out to monthly dinners which were followed by a professional talk given by one of the local businessmen or by one of the members of the faculty. One of such talks was given by John D. Clark, formerly Dean of our College of Business Administration, who has been selected by President Truman as one of the three members of his Economic Advisory Board. We feel proud to have associated with Dean Clark and to have had such a wholehearted supporter and friend of Delta Sigma Pi.

In connection with college sponsored activities at the University of Nebraska, we have an annual Bizad Banquet which is planned and put on by the students and faculty of the College of Business Administration. It is upon this occasion that the coveted key of Beta Gamma Sigma is presented to each of those outstanding scholars who have earned recognition for their hard work throughout their college career. Once again Alpha Delta Chapter was represented in this honor when Bernie Ulrich was elected a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, thus evidencing the aim of our fraternity, always to foster good scholarship.

Notwithstanding scholastic laurels to our credit, the Deltasigs are not commonly known as a gregarious group of grinds on the Nebraska campus, for our chapter activities illustrate that basic principal of accounting, "For every credit there must be a debit." Everyone likes to play a little, so play a little we did. Two reunion parties were scheduled and successfully carried out with fine turn-outs of the returned veterans of old Alpha Delta. The first party ushered in the New Year on January 5, 1946, with a dinner at the Cornhusker Hotel after which the group went on to the Turnpike, the favorite dance spot of the college set. The reunion dance on May 4, 1946 found a greater number of the alumni returned to civilian life; and we all gathered together at the Turnpike again, this time renewing old friendships at a section of tables reserved for us by another Alpha Delta alumnus who runs the night spot, Carroll Pauley.

It was the first reunion party on January 5 that disclosed the large number of Alpha Delta alumni who are now residents of Lincoln, Nebraska, where the University of Nebraska is located. The result of this disclosure was the formation of a Lincoln Alumni Club at an organization dinner, March 23, so you can see how much good can come from a little fun!

Although the growth of the active chapter during our first post-war year has not been startlingly rapid, the number of active members in Alpha Delta Chapter in the fall of 1945 had been tripled by the end of the school year. This increase was brought about principally by the initiation of seven new brothers, but the significant factor is that three of these seven were freshmen who will be instrumental in contacting more potential rushees in their class and in taking over the reins of Alpha Delta after the older brothers are gone. Next fall we are going to drive harder to pledge more freshmen and sophomores; and we expect to launch into more activities on the campus, such as our dances with the sororities, intramural sports, formal parties, and always to encourage good scholarship.—JACK R. KNICELY

DE PAUL

GREETING, BROTHER DELTASIGS! Many years have passed since we last got together through the medium of THE DELTASIG, and since the last issue of THE DELTASIG, many-a-things have happened. Like most chapters, because of the war, the Alpha Omega Chapter had to close its books for a time and join the inactive list of chapters. But that, my brothers, is of the past, and now the Alpha Omega Chapter is back in action again. In the fall of 1945, August 17 to be exact, several brothers of the Alpha Omega Chapter met at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago; some "new blood" was initiated into the fraternity, and the Alpha Omega Chapter was re-established at De Paul University School of Commerce.

Rushing and initiation of new members is always a vital part of any chapter's activities, and for the past year Alpha Omega rang the bell with a fifty-eight. These initiations meant a lot of work to the brothers, but now they are pleasant memories as one remembers—Mademoiselle Frank Veron flirting with the boys—pledges with eggs in their pockets standing in the back of the room during lectures; girls chasing the pledges to try and break the eggs—Frank Valente got caught. How were the eggs, Frank?—Lawrence Kelly, elected Keeper of the Parchment Roll, receiving the parchment roll. Now these newly initiated brothers are waiting for the fall rushing season to demonstrate their art of making a pledge suffer.

Athletically we are pretty well off this year. Under the able leadership of Norbert Heath the baseball team won six games and suffered one defeat. The team met all comers in the School of Commerce, and after losing the first game, the team pulled through with flying colors. The fraternity is entered in the bowling tournament and later on it will be entered in the intramural basketball tournament. With the material returning from last year and with new additions, we should be able to make this year a Deltasig year in sport activities.

Our professional program is well under way, and we plan on having numerous prominent business men as speakers during the year. The regular monthly meetings of the Alpha Omega Chapter are being held at the Stevens Hotel on the second Thursday of the month. Any of the brothers wishing to attend any of these meetings will be more than welcomed.

The first initiation banquet of the chapter since its revival was held at the Lake Shore Club on Monday, May 27, 1946. The formal initiations of the pledges were held during the afternoon, and a grand time was enjoyed by all at the banquet.

During the past year the chapter has added another honorary member to its roll-call. As you know it is a custom that each one hundredth number be set aside for an honorary member, and for number two hundred the chapter has selected Dean Russel D. Haines, De Paul University School of Commerce, as the honorary member.

Plans are already under way for the fall dance. It has all the potentialities of a great function. The place has not been selected as of the writing of this article, but the time has been selected as the week-end before Thanksgiving.

The brothers at Alpha Omega are determined to make this a banner year at De Paul, and we have set the sails of the Ship of Progress for "Full Speed Ahead"; so, my brothers, climb aboard and let's go!—JAMES CONNER, JR.

TEMPLE

FROM THE NUCLEUS OF five brothers who remained at Temple in the gloomy days of 1942-43, Omega Chapter has managed to rebuild both membership and treasury to a point where she was enabled to secure, furnish, and maintain the first fraternity house to be reopened on the campus by February, 1946. Thanks to the efforts of Head Master Pagliughi and Treasurer Messa, ably abetted by the actives and alumni, the Deltasig Chapter house, located at 1841 North Park Avenue, has since that time been operating at a substantial profit and points to a glorious future. Progress has been slow but steady at Omega, but in the past year the chapter has been able to resume most of the excellent social activities for which the Deltasigs have always been noted at Temple. Among these have been the resumption of the spring dinner-dance which was held in April at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, a swimming party at Pine Lake, New Jersey, professional smokers at the chapter house, Homecoming celebrations at the chapter house, and participation in all Greek affairs at the university.

The veteran element has figured strongly in the Deltasig rejuvenation at Temple, for, of the present membership of 42, a total of 37 have seen service in the Armed Forces, and Omega sadly but proudly points to 12 gold stars in its service flag. Plans are in progress to have the names of these honored dead inscribed on a plaque which will be on permanent display in the chapter room.

Much of the success of the chapter can be attributed to the excellent co-operation extended Head Master Pagliughi by the present actives, the alumni, the faculty brothers, and no less than six former Head Masters who actively participated in the chapter's rehabilitation. Among the Head Masters who returned from the services to aid in rebuilding Omega, are Herb Risley, Dick Hoffman, Dewey Roberts, Dick Sauder, Ted Serfas, and Al Zanger.

The pride of Omega at the present time is the basement of the chapter house which has been converted from a musty, dark cellar into a game room which is the envy of all Temple Greeks. Under the aegis of Treasurer Messa, formerly of the Maritime Service, work has gone forward at a rapid clip and Omega can boast of holding its parties in the finest atmosphere on the campus. A spacious dance floor has been laid out bounded on one side by a colorful mural painted by students from the Art School and on the other by a long, cushioned bench.

One aspect of Omega's activity which has been glaringly apparent since the return to full-swing fraternity life is the heavy trafficking which has been taking place in the brothers' pins. The chapter can count at the present writing only five of the brothers who are not pinned.

The social committee is working assiduously on a program which will seek to rival the best that Omega has ever produced. Plans are afoot to make this year's Homecoming celebration on November 15-16 the best since 1940. Omega will enter a colorful float in the Parade of the Greeks which precedes the Bucknell-Temple game on Saturday afternoon, and a party to welcome the alumni will be held at the house in the evening.

In the activities at the university Omega holds a prominent place among fraternities and sororities with three of the brothers, Pagliughi, Owens, and Scanlan, represented on the student commission. In addition to his commission post, Brother Scanlan is Chancellor of the chapter and captain of the debating team. Frank Kalmbach is Omega's representative on the Student-Faculty Committee on Controversial Issues. Brother Kalmbach is also a member of the staff of the Temple University News.

In sports Omega has been represented on the crack Temple varsity five for the past four years by the stellar center, Bill Budd, who has recently left for the Army. Budd was the only basketballer in Temple history to play four years of varsity basketball.

With sixteen thousand students enrolled at the university, the largest in its history, Omega looks forward to building a chapter that will surpass in strength and loyalty all past Omega chapters.—MARTIN PAGLIUCHT

NORTHWESTERN— Chicago

THE BETA CHAPTER CALENDAR of activities for the entire year of 1946-47 has been drawn up and the dates correlated with other organizations on the Chicago Campus of Northwestern University. The activities scheduled are well diversified, varying from business, scholarship and professional to athletic and social, and include participation in the all-campus activities of other organizations. Pocket sized cards are being printed showing these dates and serving as a constant reminder of the activities of Beta Chapter.

The professional program, under the direction of Wally Holdsworth, includes a professional night once a month. These programs will be composed of round table discussions, interesting and educational speakers, movies and tours through industrial plants. The fall semester starts with a series of three Smokers at which time the program will be especially planned to interest prospective pledges. Head Master Don Bergstrom and Senior Warden Parke Howard are anxiously waiting to review the selection pledges for this semester. Formal pledging will be held on the Sunday after the third Smoker and an open house will follow the pledging ceremony, at which time the parents or wives of the new neophytes will be invited to the Deltasig House to become a little better acquainted with the organization their husband or son is pledging and to see first hand the type of men who comprise Delta Sigma Pi. This should give the new pledge an additional stimulant if the folks at home are sold on our fraternity.

Realizing that each local chapter is only a small part of Delta Sigma Pi, Beta is endeavoring to get better acquainted with other chapters. A dinner party was held in conjunction with Zeta Chapter on Saturday August 10, at the Colonial Homestead in Morton Grove, Illinois. Attendance was very good in spite of being in the midst of the vacation season. Ray Boye was in charge of the arrangements. About 12 Beta men journeyed to St. Louis, Missouri, to assist in the installation of Beta Sigma Chapter at Saint Louis University on June 1. The boys in St. Louis sure are an enthusiastic group and will be a big asset to Delta Sigma Pi. Beta Chapter is interested in making acquaintance and getting together with some other chapters in this vicinity for combined meetings, dinner parties or dances and would appreciate hearing comments along this line.

Beta men are traveling far and wide to complete their education. Several are now studying at the Evanston Campus of N.U., Chuck Strempler is down in Illinois while our Junior Warden Gene Johnson is attending Carleton College in Minnesota. Beta Men have already assisted in reactivating Zeta Chapter at Evanston and those boys are hoping to make Delta Sigma Pi a by-word at many other points.

Home activities at Beta are now the center of attention. Beta News is to be published bi-monthly thruout the school year. A Halloween party is one of the big social events now on the calendar for the immediate future. The boys are getting well acquainted with the sorority beauties thru a series of open houses, held specifically for the sororities on campus. The Deltasig House is undergoing a gradual housecleaning and all the furniture has been repaired and put in good shape. Deltasigs are taking the lead in campus activity at Northwestern with half a dozen men as officers and directors of the Commerce Club. Registration was handled a little more smoothly with the help of a number of Deltasigs. The cry being raised around the Deltasig House at the present time is "On to the Grand Chapter Congress in Minneapolis in '47."—MILTON L. FLECHSIG

PENNSYLVANIA

IT CERTAINLY HAS BEEN A LONG time since a DELTASIG has been issued and a lot of water has passed over the dam for Beta Nu chapter in the last three or four years. Beta Nu Chapter takes pride in the fact that it was one of the few fraternity houses on the Penn Campus that was able to keep open and active during the entire war. Although most of our men were in the service, there were still enough brothers about who could keep the chapter active along with the new brothers who were initiated. They deserve a lot of praise along with our loyal alumni men, many of whom practically resumed active status. Fred Floyd, Jimmy Perdakis and Gene Minihan were particularly prominent for their service.

Our Head Masters during the war years, J. George Knatz, Robert Borges, William Craig and James Taylor, Jr., were outstanding in their leadership and service and kept our chapter strong and active.

The war took our Beta Nu brothers to all corners of the world and many a story has been repeated of our ex G.I.'s experiences. The number of our men who served is too large to cite here, but well over 100 Beta Nu men donned a service uniform. We regret to report that five of our brothers, Richard Wilhelm, William Foehl, Raymond Hildebrand, Earl Wooley, and George Roesser, did not return with us. To commemorate these brothers we are formulating extensive plans to dedicate our chapter room as a War Memorial Room, in the coming year. These plans are sponsored by both the alumni and active groups, and should result in a splendid memorial to those brothers who made the supreme sacrifice.

During the past summer an extensive program of renovation has been underway at 3902. Army fatigues and Navy dungarees were donned and the house really got a good spruce-up job. We painted both the interior and exterior, repaired and renovated our furniture and caught up with all the odd jobs about the house which had been neglected in the last few years. It was a long and tiresome job, but the results show that it was well worth it, and our house is now second to none on the campus.

Our outlook as we start our first postwar year is very bright. We will have a large active chapter to start our year and with the Wharton School bursting at the seams, our Senior Warden should have a very busy year. Our professional program is planned to include a monthly panel discussion by prominent alumni members in the various fields of commerce and business administration. Discussions on Banking, Merchandising, Accounting, Real Estate and Foreign Trade are on the itinerary and should prove advantageous to all.

Of course, our social season has not been neglected and big plans are underway for the fall term. We have our house warming party in the early part of October and will have our customary teas after the football games to warm ourselves and let the amateur quarterbacks give out with their after game quarterbacking. Our Christmas stag should be something this year and our traditional New Year's Eve party promises to give an opportunity to all active and alumni members and their ladies to renew old acquaintances and to make friends of all the new brothers.—RALPH JONES

NEW YORK

THE FIRST MEETING TO REACTIVATE Alpha Chapter was held on June 9, 1945, at the Belmar Cafe in New York City. The Cafe, known as Tony's, has been a long-time favorite meeting place for Alpha men and was an ideal location for our first reorganization step. Our chapter suspended operations in June of 1943 when nearly all the active membership was called into the armed forces. Under the direction of former Head Master, William Durgin; a small group of alumni and undergraduate Alpha men began the necessary ground work to organize a strong chapter at New York University. The following officers were elected: Head Master, Herbert Mihlon; Senior Warden, William Mezich; Junior Warden, Stormy Oswald; Treasurer, Theodore Hetzer; Scribe, Allen Ogden. These men held office until new brothers could be initiated, and to them the present active chapter owes much. These active and younger members of our alumni worked diligently. They were all busy with jobs and some with family obligations, but their untiring efforts succeeded in the reactivation of the chapter. The fine cooperative spirit shown by these men will not be forgotten by the active Alpha Chapter.

The alumni support was splendid, and a complete rushing program was instituted. An apartment was rented for temporary quarters, and this step was certainly not an easy task in postwar New York City. The man to be congratulated for obtaining this rental was Arnold Eckdahl, an alumni brother. Our cooperative alumni furnished the apartment, and the rush activity was started without delay. By the latter part of October nine men were pledged, and with the influx of several Alpha veterans our chapter regained its congenial fraternal atmosphere. On December 8, the nine pledges became brothers and once again Alpha was able to stand on its own feet and look forward confidently to a successful year. To such men as Ben Ross, then President of the Alumni Club, and Alumni Brothers Craig, Kennedy, Jones, Abbe, and many others we must pay tribute. One brother who was always willing to do more than his share of the work was Dan Kilian, Alpha's Grand Council Member. The alumni support was indeed essential in our reactivation and very much appreciated.

By the beginning of the spring term new officers had been elected, and plans for the complete reorganization of the chapter were started. We became a member of the Violet Skull, the christian interfraternity council at New York University. The Skull regulates pledging of its member fraternities and promotes good-will through social and athletic events. Tom Keane, our Junior Warden, was elected president of the evening sophomore class. This election was Alpha's initial start in school politics, and immediately the name Delta Sigma Pi gained more prestige. Seven more men were initiated in May giving the chapter a total of 16 new men initiated during the year. This total broke a ten year old Alpha record, and we now had an active membership of twenty-three men. Our June formal was successful, and many Alpha veterans made the affair a happy reunion date. Near the end of the term we gladly accepted an invitation to the annual alumni dinner, and all of us had a very pleasant time chatting with the older brothers. In a most informative professional meeting held in April, Lawrence Zimmer, Head of the Bureau of Employment at New York University, told of job possibilities. When the spring term ended we had found the road back; however, there were still many tasks ahead of us.

Since most of Alpha Chapter's men were veterans and wanted to continue their education, we remained active during the summer. The summer months proved an excellent time to prepare for the fall term's activities. A new set of by-laws was made up, and a complete fall program arranged with many hopeful victory dances, a formal dance in November, monthly professional meetings, and a business trip. A fine rushing program was instituted, and our alumni files were brought up-to-date. Five more men were pledged, and they will be initiated in October. Arrangements were made to get a quick start in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. During the year we enjoyed the company of many brothers from other chapters, and we hope to see many more Deltasigs this fall. Right now, several Alpha men are planning a trip to other chapters during the interim period between the summer and fall terms. Very important work has been accomplished on plans for obtaining larger permanent quarters. As I write these plans are being developed, and with the support of all Alpha brothers I am confident a new house will be realized. The Violet Skull will hold an orientation affair for incoming freshmen in October. At this meeting the men will be introduced to all the christian fraternities at New York University, and they will be given an insight into fraternity life. This affair will give us an excellent opportunity to meet the new undergraduates. Plans have also been made to initiate several honorary members from our faculty.

The year ahead is certainly one of opportunity, and we at Alpha are looking forward to having the strongest chapter of our history.—GORDON F. WHITE

DETROIT

THE VERY ACTIVE Theta Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi was a war casualty in early spring of 1942. The chapter which had contained over 40 members was reduced to less than 15 in a period of several months. Accordingly, books were closed and operations suspended until January of 1945. The chapter was re-activated on the campus at which it was started, the evening School of Commerce and Business Administration of the University of Detroit. An interesting note is that the original chapter consisted of six members as did the reactivated group.

Activities were necessarily limited during that winter semester because of the small size of the chapter. However, a class of 12 was initiated in May 1946, and a full series of fraternity plans was promulgated for the school year 1945-1946. Heading these plans was a series of lectures which were held about every two months, the last and most successful of these lectures was attended by a crowd of 250 people who were entertained by the famed editor of the Detroit Free Press, Malcolm W. Bingay. This was considered quite an achievement as the first lecture was attended by but 70 people.

The first social attempt was the renewal of the dance, Football Frolic, in October of 1945. The excellent attendance of this affair was like a shot in the arm to the chapter because the brothers were naturally disappointed at the poor turnout for the first lecture. So attention was turned to the important breakfast held after the biggest dance of the year, the "J" Prom. This breakfast is a rather strange custom peculiar to our chapter. For years it has been held immediately after the dance, between 2:00 and 4:00 A.M. Popular Detroit show people provided entertainment and an orchestra played for those that still felt like dancing.

The 25th anniversary of Theta Chapter was celebrated January 25, 1946 with a dinner party that followed the formal initiation of another group of neophytes. Grand Secretary Treasurer H. C. Wright of Chicago honored the chapter with his presence at the ceremony.

On March 3, 1946, the chapter initiation team reactivated Xi Chapter at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Michigan. Xi and Theta Chapters put a happy ending to the year's co-operation by holding a joint formal initiation in May.

That is the general story of Theta Chapter since January 1945. For the coming year we have outlined a five point program which should cover most points of fraternity life. These items are as follows: a series of four lectures; two pledge groups; monthly publication of fraternity news; social events including Football Frolic and "J" Prom breakfast and New Year's and spring formal fraternity parties; an earnest effort for high score in the Chapter Efficiency Contest.—PAUL HUNTER, JR.

RUTGERS

BETA RHO CHAPTER, RUTGERS UNIVERSITY, is pleased to have the medium of the revived DELTASIG to express our welcome back to all returned servicemen of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi. Beta Rho, along with all the other chapters, really missed the boys, and it was like a shot in the arm during the past semester to see more and more of the old brothers turn up at the meetings. We are proud that, although the baby chapter at the time, we were one of the few chapters of the Delta Sigma Pi which were able to keep active throughout the war years. This was by no means an easy task, for at one time we were down to just four active members. Those four members were: Menyhart Marko, Charles Spencer, William Graham and George Whitmore. The efforts of those four in keeping the chapter active according to the true tradition and spirit of Delta Sigma Pi were rewarded when our servicemen, upon returning home, were able to take up just where they left off.

The past year of Beta Rho Chapter was marked by two initiations. Those initiated in our annual February initiation were: John L. Swink, Registrar of Rutgers University at Newark; Warren S. Woolley and Philip A. John. The second initiation held upon the request of the returned servicemen brought into the fold Eugene H. Gallagher, Herbert A. Hoffman and Joseph F. McGinnis. At the second initiation brother Andrew D. Jackson was awarded the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key for having the highest scholastic average in the graduating class of Rutgers University College at Newark, thus keeping intact the record that a Deltasig man has won that award every year since the installation of the chapter.

As a result of the chapter election held during April, the following brothers were installed as officers for the current year: Head Master, James J. Desmond; Senior Warden, Donald O. Corvey; Junior Warden, Gerald J. Kennedy; Scribe, Joseph S. Sink; Treasurer, Frank S. Kodatt; Chancellor, Frederick H. Woerner; Historian, Warren Woolley; Chapter Advisor, Thomas J. Rowe; Senior Guide, Theodore L. Thieme, and Junior Guide, Edward G. Burden.

At a series of executive meetings held during the summer months, plans were made so that the chapter would be in full stride along with the coming of the new school year. Senior Warden Donald Corvey, who has charge of rushing possible members, plans to have each active member submit two names at the first regular meeting so that we will have a good cross-section of the school to work with. It is his belief that such a system will keep the entire chapter interested in new membership. Chairman of the Social Committee, Frank Kodatt, is planning a schedule of social events to be held during the coming year, starting off with a dance which will be held sometime during the early fall. Chairman of the Professional Committee, Gerald Kennedy, is laying the groundwork for a series of professional meetings which he believes will be of great interest to the chapter.

It is the belief of the members of Beta Rho Chapter that, with the return to full strength in active membership along with the always splendid support of its alumni group, we will have a year full of that pleasant fraternal activity which many of us have missed during the war years. To all the other chapters of Delta Sigma Pi, especially those which are in their first year of reactivation, we wish you the greatest success in all your endeavors during the year.—JAMES J. DESMOND

JOHNS HOPKINS

THE REACTIVATION CEREMONIES of Chi Chapter were motivated to a great extent by the loyalty and persistence of the members of the Baltimore Alumni Club. Starting literally from scratch, without the nucleus of a single returning active brother, the Baltimore Alumni Club held a series of smokers during the 1945 fall term at Johns Hopkins University. During these smokers five prospective brothers were selected and were later pledged on December 9, 1945 during the Twenty-Third Anniversary Party of the chapter. On the night of February 2, 1946 Chi Chapter was reborn in the initiation of the five pledges and the appointment of William Klinefelter, the lone returning pre-war brother, to the office of Acting Head Master.

Despite the chapter's small active membership, a nearly normal social calendar was maintained with the alumni club again lending its invaluable assistance to Chi Chapter. During the month of April three more prospective brothers were pledged, swelling the prospective active membership to a total of nine. On May 17, 1946 these three neophytes were welcomed as brothers with fitting ceremony, a buffet supper and the first post-war operation of the Order of the Yellow Dog. The climax of the fraternity year was reached with the successful inauguration of the annual dinner-dance, which was held on June 8, 1946 at the Country Club of Maryland. This dance was brightened considerably with the appearance of familiar faces of pre-war days.

With the return of approximately eight pre-war active members, Chi Chapter has resumed activity for the fall term. Elections have been held to fill vacancies created by a few departing brothers. Plans have been made to schedule two initiations, one in December and one next May. With a greatly increased enrollment due to returning servicemen, an unusual opportunity exists for Chi Chapter to make a fine selection of pledges. In addition to the initiation we are planning many professional and social activities in conjunction with the alumni club, the first few of which include a smoker on October 15, 1946, the Founders' Day celebration on November 7, 1946 and the Chapter Birthday Party on December 9, 1946.

Chi Chapter hopes to revive its former pleasant practice of exchanging visits with its geographically close neighbor Mu Chapter at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. By these visits we would lift our fraternity out of the classification of a local campus organization into the fulfillment of the responsibilities of a large national organization such as Delta Sigma Pi. With pent-up energy of approximately three inactive years, we of Chi Chapter look forward to a year of greater activity and service.—EUGENE GRAYSON CROSS

ST. LOUIS

ON SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1946, Phi Sigma Eta Fraternity of St. Louis University School of Commerce & Finance merged with the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi as Beta Sigma Chapter. Formal ceremonies were held at the Missouri Athletic Club. The Grand Council of Delta Sigma Pi came to St. Louis for the ceremonies which closed with a banquet. Speakers at the banquet were: Kenneth B. White of Dallas, Texas, Grand President; H. G. Wright of Chicago, Grand Secretary-Treasurer; John L. McKewer of Baltimore, former Grand President; J. Jules Brinkman, a founder of Phi Sigma Eta; Ferd Classe, Supreme Grand Accountant for the Supreme Council; Murray Cantwell, Dean of the School of Commerce & Finance of St. Louis University and a member of the Beta Sigma Chapter; and Joseph F. Duepner, Head Master of Beta Sigma Chapter.

Beta Sigma active chapter and alumni club have held five meetings in adjoining rooms at the DeSoto Hotel since being initiated into Delta Sigma Pi. The active chapter has in addition held four meetings of the executive board. At these meetings both the active chapter and the alumni club made plans for the future and laid out their plan of action for the coming school year. After the meetings active and alumni visited each other and participated in refreshments at each meeting. On August 31, the active chapter were the guests of the alumni club at their class reunion. Coach Dukes Duford and his assistants showed a picture of one of the games in which the Billikens were victorious during the previous season. Coach Duford explained the various plays and highlights of the game.

On August 31, 1946, the active chapter was host at a picnic given for all members of Delta Sigma Pi in the St. Louis area. The picnic was held at Maple Grove on Bellefontaine and Spanish Pond Roads. About 70 members and their dates attended. Highlight of the day was the annual softball game between the actives and alumni. The active chapter was out for revenge. During the previous year most of its members were in the armed services and the alumni handed the active chapter a complete trouncing. The active chapter obtained their revenge since the score was 42 to 1 in favor of the active chapter!!!

The last we heard, the alumni were going to protest the game because they were not quite sure as to whether or not one of the members of the active chapter team belonged in the active or alumni group. After the game barbecued ribs and ham were served. There was plenty of beer and other liquid refreshments throughout the day, thanks to our more influential Beta Sigma brethren.

The active chapter plan to hold a smoker for prospective pledges at the DeSoto Hotel on October 20. We plan to invite at least 150 men from the School of Commerce and Finance. We hope to finally pledge at least 30 members into Beta Sigma Chapter.

Sometime during October the alumni club will play host at a stag to be held at the club of Jules Brinkman.

Interest in the fraternity is high since our initiation into Delta Sigma Pi, and attendance at our regular meetings has increased to the point where approximately 65 per cent of all members participate. We hope to increase this number enough to obtain points in the coming efficiency contest.

During the past few weeks we have transferred some of our graduates to the Alumni Club. From where we sit it seems as though this will be a banner year for Delta Sigma Pi fraternity at St. Louis University.—JOSEPH F. DUEPNER

NORTH CAROLINA

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER has been active throughout the war. We have made a complete cycle and have almost repeated the history of the chapter during the war years. Alpha Lambda grew from its inception in 1925 until it had to have an eating place large enough to care for its rapidly growing active list. We obtained this house at 211 Pittsboro Street when the meeting room in Bingham Hall was found inadequate. Our next step was to move to the old Lambda Chi Alpha house on Fraternity Court in January of 1943. There the active membership continued to grow until the war started to take its dire toll. The roll was reduced severely, but with the aid of Navy and Marine V-12, and the N.R.O.T.C., the chapter managed to struggle along. The University went all out for the war effort and turned practically all of its facilities over to the Navy and Army.

Our chapter house was taken over by the V-12 Program and was returned to us in March of 1945. During the interim the brothers carried on as best as possible, meeting in an old room over a local drug store. At one time I believe the membership sagged to seven, but they continued to meet. The war's termination saw the return to school of many of the old brothers and new students from which to draw new men. Last spring the active membership here at Alpha Lambda grew to 39 under the leadership of Head Master Charles Murray, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Much to our regret, the house on Fraternity Court was sold last spring and we had the terrific job of finding another house in an already crowded community. After quite a bit of maneuvering and manipulation we signed once again a lease to "211." Since getting back in the house this fall, we have spent much time and energy putting the house into a condition of which all of us may be proud. The painters have been busy this past week and promise to complete their work in the near future. About 22 of the brothers are living in the house and now our main problem consists of obtaining some more furniture and a suitable radio. We wish to extend to all Deltasigs a very special invitation to drop by the house whenever they are in this area. We know that you will like our new home and the chapter it houses.

The present chapter consists of approximately 42 members. The majority of the chapter is made up of brothers who have been in service and the V-12 men who have returned to the university to complete their education. The chapter is planning an appropriate ceremony for Founders' Day and will probably have a banquet in connection with our observance. Rushing has been set for the latter part of November for we are losing a number of brothers in January and March.

Our newly elected officers are Head Master, Roger Anderson; Senior Warden, Bill Callahan; Junior Warden, Colon Byrd; Scribe, Frank White; Treasurer, Jack Nolan; Chancellor, Jim Fowler; Historian, Russ Poole; Master of Ceremonies, Bill Hull; Master of Festivities, Bill Watson; and DELTASIG Correspondent, Pete Pully. In our next letter we shall try to include the names of all the brothers who are back with us and what some of the more recent alumni are doing at the present time.

The intramural team takes to the field again under the leadership of Brother Gene Roth. It is tag football season and the team will be all out to take the league cup. To our brothers in the other chapters we send fraternal greeting through THE DELTASIG. May all of you have the fine year, which we all are planning.
—PETE W. PULLY

CREIGHTON

BETA THETA CHAPTER has returned to the Creighton University Hilltop after three years inactivity due to the war. The reorganization process was set into motion by five loyal members: James B. Maxey, James E. Hollander, Robert Haselton, William Lubeley and John Wellens. With these very capable fellows at the reins, the chapter boosted the membership to the present 28. The job of making Delta Sigma Pi prominent on the campus is much more equally distributed among the chapter members, and our plans for carrying on the business and social activities will progress with ease. We have lost three brothers in the past months; two of them, John Wellens and James Hollander, graduated, and Don Peterson is now a member of the armed forces. With the influx of new men returning to the campus we are all set to increase our membership, with the best men according to the established high standards of the fraternity.

Our social schedule has gotten underway and the members and dates had a great time on the last outing, a combined hayrack ride and hot-dog roast. James Maxey is stirring the embers to promote the alumni club again and it will be of great value to the chapter. The chapter paper is in the offing and those little personal items of the campus will be found in the Echos of Beta Theta.

The prospects of chapter athletic activity is brighter than ever before since the University is in the act of promoting a big scale intramural schedule. Football, basketball, volleyball, handball and swimming teams are to be entered from the chapter. Naturally the teams from Beta Theta will give their all to be on top.

A program of business and professional meetings is planned for the winter months. With an increased membership, Beta Theta is shooting for a top score in the Chapter Efficiency Contest. Other news is that Eugene Conry and John Wellens are now in Minneapolis at new positions.—WILLIAM J. HOLLANDER

BAYLOR

THE ATOMIC BOMB brought an end to the war, and in a similar manner, Beta Iota Chapter brought an end to inactivity on the campus of Baylor University by resuming activity the first part of January 1946. As members began to enter the service, it was decided in May 1943 to suspend activities until after the war. Members gradually began to drift back on the campus and six "pre-war" members undertook to resume activities soon after the first of the year. They held their first meeting early in January and elected the following officers: Head Master, Neal Schriener; Senior Warden, Harry Reed; Scribe, Bill Rucker; and Treasurer, Horace Jackson.

Soon after the chapter got started, 13 new men were pledged. The chapter was honored to have Grand President Kenneth B. White of Dallas present to aid in administering the formal initiation. Four more pledges were taken in during the spring term and the initiation was held on May 6.

A joint business meeting was held in conjunction with Phi Gamma Nu, business sorority on the Baylor Campus, on April 8 and A. C. Uplegger was the speaker for the evening. Mr. Uplegger was very interesting to the Deltasigs present because of his knowledge of the founding of the fraternity. While not a member of the fraternity, Mr. Uplegger was attending New York University when Delta Sigma Pi was organized. He was a personal friend and classmate of the founders.

Beta Iota Chapter held a formal banquet May 11. The members were again pleased to have Grand President White as a guest. Brother White made a short talk on the reactivation of Deltasig chapters throughout the country. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Jack Dillars, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association of Baylor University. He gave a very interesting talk on foreign relations. The Rose of Deltasig—Miss Helen Gilbert from San Benito, Texas, entered through a rose-laden trellis and was presented with a bouquet of red roses in a very colorful ceremony. The impossible was accomplished when nylon hosiery was procured and presented as favors to the member's dates and to the guests.

Officers were re-elected during the latter part of June for the following school year. Those elected were: Head Master, Gene Welch; Senior Warden, Harry Gardner; Junior Warden, Mark Belew; Scribe, Bill Logue; Treasurer, Vernon Garrett; and Historian, Jack Tutt.

The chapter took part in the University's intramural program during the spring term and were victorious in handball, tennis, swimming, and softball. A softball league was held during the summer and the chapter again conquered all opposition.

The first meeting of the new school year was held September 23 with many "pre-war" members back. Miss Martha Wood of Waco, Texas, was elected as the Rose of Deltasig for the coming year. Plans were made for holding a meeting of Beta Iota Chapter members during Homecoming, October 26, when Baylor plays Texas A. & M. The chapter's float won the last two Homecoming parades before the war, so plans were made for the float to represent the chapter in this, the first post-war Homecoming parade.

A professional meeting was held September 30 at the Roosevelt Hotel with all the prospective pledges as guests. Prof. Neil S. Foster, charter member of Beta Iota gave an interesting resume of the activities of the Beta Iota Chapter since its origin in 1930. Dr. G. M. Rogers, professor of economics at Baylor University, gave an instructive talk on economics in the post-war world.—JACK TUTT

What Are You Doing To Perpetuate Delta Sigma Pi?

■ Practically every member of Delta Sigma Pi would dig down into his pocket and lend financial assistance to his fraternity and his chapter if either were in dire need of funds to carry on. Why wait for such a period as this to overtake us? Had our National Endowment Fund, made up primarily from the receipts of the sale of Life Memberships, been of adequate size, it would not have been necessary to temporarily curtail the national activities of Delta Sigma Pi during the recent war period.

■ The National Endowment Fund was established to provide for the permanent endowment of your fraternity. If every member of Delta Sigma Pi was a Life Member, we would have adequate endowment funds to provide for any contingency at any time. All of the money received from the sale of Life Memberships is placed in our National Endowment Fund. The principal of this fund is made available to deserving undergraduate members who may need a loan to complete their college education, and to chapters for certain restricted purposes. Several score of members have been aided in completing their college education due to loans made from this fund, and none of these loans have been defaulted in any way.

■ Only the interest received from the principal in the National Endowment Fund may be utilized in the general operations of the fraternity. Naturally, the larger the amount of the interest received, the greater the operations possible. Our security will be complete when an adequate perpetual income has been created from the National Endowment Fund.

■ Every member of Delta Sigma Pi is fraternally invited to join the 875 members who are Life Members. This is not a donation, but an investment in your future as a member of Delta Sigma Pi, and also an investment in your fraternity's future. What you are buying is an endowment for your fraternity; a beautiful Life Membership Certificate, and a Life Membership card; a Life subscription to THE DELTASIG; paid-up national alumni dues for life; and an immeasurable amount of satisfaction in knowing that you have done your part in the perpetuation of your fraternity, Delta Sigma Pi.

■ Now is the time to act! Your name should be added to our roll of distinction now. Next year the Life Membership fee will be increased to $50, so you still have time to become a Life Member at the current rate of $35. Send in your check for the entire amount or send $5.00 as an initial payment the balance to be remitted $5.00 per month until a total of $35.00 has been paid. This is something you have been planning on doing for years, so why put it off any longer?
